A Step-By-Step Report Of Hours Of Crisis

Across the Pacific flashed word that Communist guerrillas had attacked American compounds at Pleiku in South Viet Nam; casualties were heavy. Back flashed orders from the commander-in-chief in Washington: Strike back. As the world watched and waited for the next moves in the deadly strike-for-strike exchange, the White House became the focal point of command activity. Here's a step-by-step recap of the days and nights of tension.

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Two nights of crisis — nights of broken sleep for President Johnson — echoed in Washington the thunder of U. S. aerial strikes at North Viet Nam.

The Communist attacks that brought those retaliatory raids summoned to duty Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara recuperating at his Washington home after a bout with pneumonia.

They brought to the White House acting Secretary of State George M. Ball — and to the telephone, his vacationing boss, Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

They brought presidential adviser McGeorge Bundy racing home from a fact-finding mission in Saigon.

The first sequence of strike and counterstrike came last Saturday and Sunday; the second Wednesday and Thursday.

Johnson was in his oval office at the White House Saturday when he first got word — early in the afternoon — of the Communist attack that killed eight Americans and wounded more than 100 at Pleiku.

He was there on Wednesday when reports of the terrorist bombing that took up to 25 American lives at Qui Nhon began arriving.

George E. Reedy, White House press secretary, said both the Saturday and Wednesday Communist assaults were reported to Johnson from the White House situation room, a top-secret command post in the basement. There was no word in either case as to who relayed them to Johnson.

The situation room is manned by military officers and aides of Bundy, Johnson's special assistant for national security affairs.

Here is the sequence of Wednesday's events:

Reports of the attack began arriving during the morning. Later, as Johnson talked about domestic problems with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, the telephone rang time and again. More reports on the Vietnamese crisis were flowing in.

Soon, official limousines began pulling up to the White House. Unannounced, the National Security Council went into session. It met for an hour and a half.

When the conference was over

U.S. Mediators Report

Proposals Given For Dock Peace

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Representatives of South Atlantic and Gulf Coast longshoremen rejected a back-to-work proposal by a presidential panel today, tossing the problems of the 33-day dock strike back to President Johnson.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal mediators handed down their recommendations for settlement of the 33-day dock strike today and gave both sides one hour to take it or leave it.

The recommendations involve unsettled problems in South Atlantic and Gulf ports, principally Miami and Galveston.

In the Gulf dispute, the panel called for an immediate return to work while all remaining issues in the dispute are submitted to a mediator. If no settlement is reached within 30 days, those issues would be submitted to binding arbitration.

In the Atlantic dispute, the panel named by President Johnson proposed the two remaining issues as follows:

1. Gang size—minimum number of men in a work gang shall be 16, including machine operators and gang foremen. This recommendation was in line with the request by union representatives from Atlantic ports.

2. Weather clause — when weather prevents longshoremen from working they will receive a two-hour guarantee of pay, with further pay at stand-by rates if work is permitted after the initial two-hour period.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, announcing the recommendations shortly after 10 a. m., said that he, Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor and Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., the presidential mediation panel, would be in Wirtz' office for one hour.

Wirtz said the mediators would expect a response from both unions and shippers by 11:15 a. m.

The panel was directed to report back to President Johnson at noon today.

The New York Daily News reported in a Washington dispatch that both sides had accepted the panel's recommendations. Quoting "reliable sources," the Daily News said the recommendations were described as "fair and equitable" and would be released when the

Missing Boy Won't Talk But Police Find Parents

Although he refused to talk in the best tradition of a fellow questioned at headquarters by police, a 3-year-old youngster was reunited with his parents late Thursday afternoon, but only after a search that taxed the ingenuity of the officers and a lot of volunteer helpers.

The youngster turned out to be Jeffrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sprout, 216 Ravine St. But police didn't learn that until 90 minutes after he was found wandering at Walnut and Ravine Sts. and had been missed narrowly by an auto at the busy intersection.

The youngster was taken to headquarters to remove him from danger and police set about the usually rapid job of finding the parents. Missing child cases generally are solved in a few minutes when a distraught parent hurries into the station or telephones.

But that wasn't the case with the tow-headed little fellow in the dark jacket and blue jeans who perched on a folding chair in a corner of the radio room and maintained a stoic silence.

Police questioned him at length, but all they got in response was a few grunts and

Sub-Freezing Trend To End Brief 'Spring'

It was nice while it lasted, but Old Man Winter is about to put the icy skids under that spring-like weather.

A cold front approaching the Ohio Valley will tumble the temperatures this afternoon to a sub-freezing low range of 22 to 28 degrees tonight, with a few snow flurries. Brisk winds were to diminish tonight as the cold moves in.

It will be in sharp contrast to the "heat wave" of the past three days in which Montgomery Dam recorded a high of 66 Wednesday afternoon and 60 at 4 a. m. today when the downtown recorded 58.

Court Fight Looms Over USW Voting

Questions Raised On Irregularities; Abel Holding Lead

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The close United Steelworkers Union election moved ominously toward a possible court fight today as both sides raised questions of voting irregularities.

A dispute already has reached court in one district.

There were rumblings from others as the vote for presidency of the big union continued to be close between incumbent David J. McDonald and I. W. Abel, the union's secretary-treasurer.

Abel holds a narrow unofficial lead with some big locals apparently still uncounted three days after the election.

An entangled court fight is just what had been feared by the basic steel industry, eager to get on with bargaining for a new contract.

The present contract was re-opened Jan. 1 but negotiations were recessed during the bitter campaign. The union can strike May 1 but it is generally believed talks won't resume until things settle down.

James Griffin, a top McDonald aide and director of the USW's Youngstown District, told a news conference Thursday night "it's quite possible" the election will end up in a court fight, regardless of who wins.

At Hammond, Ind., U.S. Dist. Judge George Beamer dismissed a petition filed by a McDonald supporter protesting vote procedures at the big Local 1014 in Gary.

The petition charged that McDonald watchers were being denied the right to confirm the vote count posted by local officials.

Judge Beamer told attorneys:

2 Messages By Rhodes Due Monday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Members of the Ohio Legislature return to work in the glare of television equipment Monday night for what should be their busiest week so far.

A statewide television network will carry the opening session at which Gov. James A. Rhodes will deliver his "state of the state" and budget message. The joint session of the House and Senate gets under way at 8 p. m.

Rhodes and Finance Director Richard Krabach have withheld official announcement of the budget for the 1965-67 biennium, but newsmen learned it will be in the vicinity of $4.1 billion, an all-time high. The budget for the current biennium was $3.6 billion, also a record.

After receiving budget proposals, the lawmakers will have a bulky work load which includes 274 bills and several dozen resolutions.

Most of the interest next week is expected to center around hearings on the controversial school bus bill. First hearings will be before the House Education Committee headed by Rep. B. A. Broughton, R-Geauga.

The hearings will be on the first of two school bus bills received by the House. It would require school boards to extend bus service to students of parochial and private schools.

Rep. Raymond E. Hildebrand, R-Lucas, introduced the second House bill Thursday before the

Wriggled Out Of Clothes, Greased Self First

Yank Pulled Free After 35 Hours In Rubble Of Red-Bombed Billet

QUI NHON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A slim, bald GI wriggled out of his clothes, greased himself with soap and was pulled free today after 35 hours buried in the rubble of a bombed billet at Qui Nhon.

"Now don't tell me I need a shave," Spec. 4 Arthur Abendschein told his section commander as he did a little dance on the rubble.

Abendschein, 30, of Deptford, N.J., was the fifth American rescued from the shattered enlisted men's quarters which Viet Cong terrorists bombed Wednesday night. Two Americans were killed by the explosions and 19 were missing and feared dead. Twenty-two of the survivors were wounded, five of them seriously.

Trapped in a cave-like opening about six feet long, two feet wide and two feet high while rescuers tunneled through to him, Abendschein suffered a slightly twisted back and a four-inch head cut.

"I feel bruises all over but nowhere in particular," he told a doctor.

Abendschein said when the Viet Cong attack began, he grabbed his weapon and shot at the terrorists from a balcony, possibly killing one. He had run back to his room for more ammunition when the explosions collapsed the four-story building.

The GI, a 10-year veteran, said he lay stunned beneath the debris until he heard the voices of rescue crews Thursday. They had to chip away a 36-inch concrete block to reach him.

Twice during the ordeal Abendschein pulled himself from the hole as far as his waist but could not squeeze his hips out. As temperatures dropped during the night, the concrete wreckage began to contract and rubble began to fill the small opening they had made through to him.

At dawn, with the digging going slowly, the rescue crews tired. Then two 18-year-old members of the Vietnamese special Forces pitched in and reached the trapped American within two hours.

During the rescue operation, Abendschein was handed a chisel and dug away from his side.

Sandwiches also were passed in to him.

"I know one thing," said Abendschein, "I'll never stay in another Vietnamese hotel."

"Tell mom I'm okay," he told newsmen, "and tell her to write to Gayle and tell her I'm all right, too."

Gayle is Abendschein's girl friend, Gayle Beard of Newport News, Va. His mother, Mrs. Howard W. Robertson of Almonesson, N.J., didn't write. She telegraphed: "Prayers answered. Arthur rescued."

Wage Raises Due Workers At Midland

Mayor Eli Corak's recommendation for pay raises for all borough employees was accepted Thursday night by Midland Council, which agreed to incorporate the higher rates in the new budget now being discussed.

The figures agreed upon in negotiations between Corak and Steelworkers Local 5059, which represents the employees, calls for an 11-cent hourly increase for laborers, 13 cents for machine operators and drivers, and 15 cents for street department supervisors.

Corak also asked boosts of $30 per month for the police department, and approximately $25 for the borough administrative staff. Council received a request from the Midland Board of Education and Carnegie Library Board, asking that an additional $5,000 be allocated to the school district for the replacement of furniture in the library.

The present allocation is $30,000 per year.

The request was referred to the finance committee for further study during budget planning.

Industry Council informed

Ohio Board Gets Request

Kent State Academic Unit Is Recommended For City

The Citizens Committee for Higher Education has recommended to the Ohio Board of Regents that Kent State University establish an academic center in East Liverpool.

The recommendation was given to Dr. John Millett, chancellor of the Board of Regents, governing body for state universities, at a conference Wednesday in Columbus.

Attending the meeting with Dr. Millett were Frank A. Dawson, chairman, Miss Gladys DeBolt, Mayor Merrill D. Hall, Supt. Paul H. Blair and Asst. Supt. George Hargraves Jr.

The committee already has issued the invitation to Dr. Robert White, KSU president, to establish a branch here.

Dawson said the committee recommended Kent State after weighing offers from the school and from Ohio University in Athens. Kent was selected because the committee feels that it could offer a better program because of its proximity to East Liverpool.

Dr. Millett told The Review this morning the next step will be for Kent State to submit a formal proposal for establishment of the center here to the regents' board.

The chancellor said he is not certain when the proposal will be made, but that it possibly could be on the agenda for the board's March meeting.

The local committee announced a week ago that it was seeking a branch of a state university to serve Tri-State students.

After the regents have acted, the next step would be for Kent

Plane Crash Reported In Pennsylvania Area

Aviation officials in Pennsylvania and Maryland late this morning were checking out reports of a light plane crash near the Maryland border in the Bedford County (Pa.) area.

Authorities said an Army single-engine Cessna-type airplane, which left Canton airport late Thursday, was reported missing en route to Ft. Meade, Md.

The possibility of an airplane crash in Hancock County was checked earlier this morning when a New Cumberland area woman phoned authorities she had seen a plane afire overhead.

The Greater Pittsburgh Airport said there were no planes missing.

The chancellor said he is not

Parley Slated On Potteries' Pay Contract

Union and management spokesmen in the dinnerware industry have agreed to reopen the current three-year contract on wages and working conditions and April 21 has been set as the tentative date for beginning the negotiations in Cincinnati.

Announcement of the impending parley was made today by the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, which said it has agreed on the reopening with the U. S. Pottery Association.

The present contract was signed Nov. 6, 1962, at Cincinnati and went into effect the following Dec. 1. Management said the fringe benefits, including the first pension plan in the history of the industry, would cost at least $1.5 million over the life of the contract.

The pact covered: Hall China Co., Homer Laughlin China Co., Harker China Co. and Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co., all in the East Liverpool district; Salem China Co. at Salem; Canonsburg Pottery Co. at Canonsburg, Pa., and French - Saxon China Co. and Royal China Co., both at Sebring.

The agreement contained a clause that allowed it to be re-

U.S. Pilot, Three Navy Planes Lost

Strike Brings Bitter New Denunciations From Red Capitals

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The cost of the latest American air strike on Communist North Viet Nam was fixed today at three U.S. Navy jet fighter-bombers lost and one American pilot captured.

The raid Thursday — third this week against the Communist North — was carried out by about 160 U.S. and South Vietnamese planes. It was the most massive retaliation yet for Viet Cong terrorist attacks in South Viet Nam.

U.S. officials called the raid highly successful. A spokesman said anti-aircraft activity was no heavier than on Sunday or Monday's raids and that the new raid might have come as more of a surprise.

It brought bitter new denunciations and charges of aggression from the Communist regimes in Hanoi, Peking and Moscow.

Barracks areas at Chan Hoa and Chap Le, regarded as staging areas for infiltrators headed into South Viet Nam, were singled out for the raid.

Reports said the bombs, rockets and gunfire left smoke columns surging up through broken clouds over the target areas.

Chap Le, 8 1/2 miles north of the border between North and South Viet Nam, was softened up by 28 U.S. Air Force F100 Sabrejet fighters, then pounded by 28 propeller-driven Vietnamese fighter-bombers.

Chan Hoa, 50 miles north of the border and four miles northwest of Dong Hoi, scene of a previous strike, was hit by more than 100 Navy jets from the 7th Fleet carriers Hancock, Ranger and Coral Sea.

American military officials said two planes were shot down and one made a crash landing

Woman Given $30,000, City Slates Appeal

The city expects to take steps to appeal a $30,000 verdict returned by a Common Pleas Court jury at Lisbon Thursday afternoon in favor of a 64-year-old woman laundry worker who alleged her right leg was broken in a fall on municipally-maintained wooden steps in West End.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper and Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodyre announced the intention to appeal today in the case of Mrs. Callie Knight, 915 Lisbon St., who was awarded what may be a record or near-record judgment for a case of its kind in the Lisbon court.

The jury of 10 women and two men returned the finding after a four-day trial before Judge Raymond S. Buzzard. She alleged she was injured in a fall on wooden steps on a Lisbon St. hillside just north of W. 9th St.

Mrs. Knight's petition included a claim for $400 in hospital expenses, $300 for physician's services and $300 for lost wages. The testimony showed she has returned to her job following recuperation and has worked steadily.

Mrs. Knight claimed she fell backward when a wooden railing and riser gave way, suffering the fractured leg. She claimed the city was negligent

The scheduled meeting of the board Monday night has been canceled.

Chance Seen For Flood In 2 Ohio Areas

By The Associated Press
A possibility of lowland flooding in central and southwest Ohio arose Friday but the Weather Bureau said that's all it is so far—a possibility.

Streams and rivers in those areas, swollen by snow melt-off and two days of scattered rain, are running full, the bureau said.

Heavy rain could cause some overflow, the bureau warned, but the forecasts call for the rain to end shortly after midday, followed by colder weather.

In central Ohio, the bureau said it would take an inch of new rain to bring the Scioto and other rivers full up to their banks and two inches to create flooding. The bureau predicted a total of 1.5 inches by the time rain ends.

The East Fork of the Little Miami was expected to reach flood stage of 19 feet at Perintown. Milford expects 10 feet, just below flood stage.

The Cincinnati Weather Bureau said it has no idea yet how much swollen tributaries running into the Ohio River will affect the big river.

The Ohio currently is expected to crest at 46 feet Saturday, which is well below the 52-foot flood stage. Even at 60 feet, the Ohio causes only minor damage to low-lying houses on the Cincinnati side and parts of Bellevue and Dayton, Ky.

Some country roads in the Cincinnati area were reported closed due to overflow from creeks.

Board Sets $2 Million For Science Building

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Controlling Board has released $2.8 million to erect a four-story science building at the Dayton branch of the joint Ohio State-Miami Universities.

The board also released $175,000 for the new Cleveland State University. The sum included $40,000 for administrative offices for the board of trustees, $20,000 for an educational consultant, $50,000 for an architectural consultant and $40,000 to develop estimates of "space needs."

Freedom Man Heads Beaver United Funds

Joseph N. Tosh, president of the Freedom National Bank, was elected president of the United Funds of Beaver County at a Board of Directors meeting Wednesday. Tosh, who served as the 1964-65 campaign chairman and as executive vice president, succeeds Michael Baker Jr.

Myron J. Demeter, Ambridge plant manager of the Armco Steel Co., was elected executive vice president succeeding Tosh. Demeter served as co-chairman of the 1964-65 countywide drive and has been active in the Ambridge United Fund since its inception.

Seven vice presidents were also elected. They are: Michael Baker Jr., president of Michael Baker, Jr., Inc.; A. C. Keller, Aliquippa Works manager of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.; A. J. Mendry, Vanport Works manager of the Westinghouse Electric Corp.; J. Harvey Moore, president of P. M. Moore Co. of Aliquippa; Edward A. Sahli, president of Sahli Motors, Inc., Beaver Falls; Robert E. Shoup, Monaca Plant manager of the Colonial Steel Co., and George Zipf, vice president of the Babcock & Wilcox Co. at Beaver Falls.

Atty. Harold F. Reed Jr. of the Beaver law firm of Reed, Orr & Reed, was elected to his sixth term as secretary-treasurer. Guy McCracken, Midland Works manager of the Crucible Steel Co., was elected assistant treasurer and Richard A. Fusco, executive director.

All officers are representative of each of the eight local United Funds and form the executive committee of the Board of Directors.

In other action, the board at the request of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, reaffirmed its non-discriminatory policy. This policy, adopted in June 1959, states, "To be eligible for participation, the United Fund should be satisfied that the agency services are or will be open to all persons in need, regardless of religion, race or cultural background. Any affiliated agency proven to be practicing discrimination shall immediately jeopardize its United Fund affiliation and allocation."

Foster McCarl Jr., chairman of the admissions and allocation committee, reported the Pennsylvania Citizens Council, Boy Scouts and Baden Library appealed their 1965 allocations and all were denied. The 1965 medical program for the Beaver County Heart Association was approved.

The next meeting of the board is scheduled for April 14 when all major appointments will be made, Tosh said.

Storms Lash Much Of U.S.; Three Killed

By The Associated Press

Storms carrying tornadoes and blizzards hammered much of the nation today, leaving in their wake extensive damage, flooding, paralyzing snow depths and ice-clogged rivers.

Three Alabama traffic deaths were attributed to deluges of rain spawned by tornadoes which struck across the South from Texas to Alabama. At least 17 persons were injured by the storms.

A crippling blizzard struck eastern Nebraska and western Iowa. Omaha struggled out from under 1½ feet of snow and downtown Lincoln, Neb., lay under 20 inches of snow — perhaps the heaviest snow in history for that city.

Residents were alerted for flash flooding in the wake of heavy rains in western Tennessee.

Many other Lower Mississippi and Ohio Valley towns were hit by thunderstorms which produced more than 1 inch of rain.

The snowstorm which struck Nebraska Thursday began moving toward northwestern Iowa today. Twenty inches of snow fell in Fairbury, 19 at Offutt Air Force Base south of Omaha and 16 at Lincoln Air Force Base.

Strong winds hampered street-clearing operations. The snow followed an ice storm Tuesday that struck eastern Nebraska where many schools were closed.

The storms came from Texas, then rushed on into Louisiana where two persons were injured. The storms then moved on to Mississippi and Muscle Shoals, Ala.

In the Memphis, Tenn., suburb of Millington, 4.78 inches of rain fell.

Tornadoes tore down power lines and damaged buildings in Garrison, Tex.

Wolf Creek Pass in southern Colorado lay under 120 inches of snow. Crested Butte 106 inches and Hidden Valley 96 inches. Roads in the Colorado mountains were snowpacked, but open.

Snow peppered Minnesota's 1-inch thickness of ice. Temperatures ranged from 5 to 10 over the state.

Highways were snowpacked or icy over most of Kansas and northwestern Missouri.

Up to 1½ inches of rain fell on Ohio and rivers rose. But only the lowlands were in danger.

Snow, sleet and freezing rain struck Vermont and New Hampshire. Sleet and rain hit Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island.

The Lower Pee Dee River in South Carolina overflowed, as did the Appalachia River in Blountstown, Fla., and the Tombigbee River in Mississippi.

Mother Handling Gun Accidentally Kills Daughter

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—With her 11-year-old daughter, Susan, standing nearby, Mrs. Francis J. Castka started unloading a .38-caliber revolver in the kitchen of their Brunswick home.

The gun fired accidentally, Brunswick police reported.

"Oh Mommy," Mrs. Castka heard her daughter sob, and the child slumped to the floor, killed by a shot through the chest.

Police said the accident occurred Thursday as Mrs. Castka prepared to take the child to school.

Dr. Andrew J. Karson, Medina County coroner, said noises had been heard outside the home Wednesday night and Castka loaded the gun placed it under a sofa and told his wife to unload it the next day.

Mrs. Castka was reported suffering from shock and was under sedation at Medina Community Hospital following the shooting.

Blocked View Blamed For Auto-Rig Collision

A utility pole that blocked the vision of both drivers was blamed for a collision that damaged an auto and a tractor-trailer truck Thursday at the blind corner of Drury Ln. and Cherry Alley, police reported.

The mishap damaged a 1964 two-door sedan driven by Zang-will Kamil, 46, of 3130 Gilson Ave. and a 1961 tractor-trailer of S. & W. Motor Lines, Inc., of Greensboro, N. C., operated by Paul Ray, 32, also of Greensboro, officers said.

Kamil was headed south in Cherry Alley and the rig was moving west in Drury Ln. Both drivers said their vision was obscured by a utility pole at the intersection. The mishap, timed at 11 a.m., damaged a fender of the auto and the bumper of the rig.

CLEVELAND (AP)—A plea of innocent by reason of insanity was entered by William H. Reh-hard, 22, when he was arraigned Thursday on a charge of kidnaping 7-year-old Donna Adkins. Common Pleas Court Judge Earl R. Hoover set bond at $50,000 and ordered a psychiatric examination for the South Euclid man.

Rehhard has admitted forcing Donna into a car near her west side home Jan. 21, holding her overnight in a garage and then abandoning her on the Ohio Turnpike 13 miles from her home. Before releasing the girl, Rehhard fired blank cartridges near her eyes, he told police. One of the eyes later had to be removed by surgery.

Crime Prevention Week

National Crime Prevention Week begins Sunday.

An increase in crime and violence on city streets is stimulating a growing recognition of federal responsibility in crime prevention. City crime was an issue in the 1964 presidential campaign.

President Johnson will shortly take the unusual step of sending a special message to Congress on crime.

He presumably has in mind something like the federal crime commission "empowered to put the federal government in the fight against crime" recommended by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., on Feb. 8 in the course of a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing on the nomination of Nicholas deB. Katzenbach as attorney general. Mr. Katzenbach has promised that current federal anti-crime programs would be accelerated to whatever degree is possible.

The role of the federal government in police work is confined within narrow limits. The Federal Bureau of Investigation gave instruction to more than 105,000 local police officers in 1964. Many cities continue to ask the federal government for help and ideas in fighting the steadily rising wave of street crimes. But J. Edgar Hoover has avoided anything resembling a national police force.

A striking feature of the riots which occurred in eastern cities during the latter part of last summer was their marked anti-police character. Many rioters took advantage of the disorders to loot neighborhood stores.

In all cities and in all urbanized areas, the story is the same. People will get about what they pay for, about what they deserve in the way of police protection.

The key to the problem is crime "prevention"—stopping crime before it happens, not trying to undo the damage when it's too late.

Retaliation Could Be Obvious

Photographs of the attack on the U.S. Embassy in Moscow reveal that the attackers stood in solid ranks as close to the building as the pitcher in a softball game for 10-year-old girls.

Between them and the building were a few disinterested guards. Thanks to this arrangement, stones, pieces of brick, missiles could be lobbed against the building and through the windows at will. The demonstration lasted an hour.

When word reached Washington, President Johnson fired back a strongly worded note demanding better protection for U.S. property. The note presumably was waded up and put into one of the Kremlin's round files. So much for Mr. Johnson's retaliation.

The United States now must pay for the rehabilitation of the building, which hardly seems worthwhile. Another demonstration will be staged presently. The building hardly is repaired after one attack before the Kremlin leaks out word that it is time for another.

We can think of only one way to stop this. The Russian Embassy in Washington is situated at 1125 16th St. The phone number is NAtional 8-7550.

Ring up the Russians and tell them to be looking out the window at a specified time. Ring up the Washington police and tell them to be somewhere else at the same specified time. Get a truckful of inkwells, a truckful of berry pies and leak out word to the capital toughs that something exciting is going to happen at 1125 16th St.

Fifteen minutes should be enough with the kind of mobsters who would rally for a riot in Washington. They wouldn't need an hour to make a mess of the place.

Get Out The Maps Of Korea

Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kossygin flew from Peking to Pyongyang, capital of North Korea, it is reported. He was on his way home to Moscow from his visit to North Viet Nam.

It would be a good idea to get out the maps of Korea and have them ready. No one has been sure what would happen with Nikita Khrushchev in retirement and new faces in the Kremlin. But Kossygin has been leaving some hints. North Viet Nam erupted against South Viet Nam.

The Soviet Union may be returning to the policy once described by Herbert Hoover as being like a thief trying every door in a hotel corridor in the hope of finding one that had been left unlocked.

The casualty lists from South Viet Nam suggest that someone had neglected to lock a few doors there. Kossygin may point out to the North Koreans that they, too, might find it worthwhile to stage a sneak attack on the American barracks.

It might be a good idea to go on a 24-hour alert in Berlin and get braced for another blockade in the Berlin Corridor, too. It might be a good idea to go on a 24-hour alert everywhere in the world that sneak thieves might be encouraged to look for unlocked doors by the new chief of state of Russia.

If Premier Kossygin is taking the line that Russia can't afford to let Communist China take all credit for trouble-making away from the copyright owners, he will make his predecessor look like Uncle Tanya. That may be why Khrushchev was eased out of the Kremlin. He was looking too much like Uncle Tanya.

Leave Nothing In Doubt

Lawyers will have a field day with the legal issue raised by the book and movie, "John Goldfarb, Please Come Home."

Notre Dame University wants to enjoin the showing of the movie and the distribution of the book because the university's name is used without permission in a commercial venture.

The case now has been through the legal process twice, the first time with a ruling in favor of Notre Dame, the second time with a reversal of the first ruling—and the lawyers are just beginning to get into the swing of it.

The rest of us can hope that the final outcome of the legal proceedings will leave nothing in doubt. Otherwise, a devastating precedent would be set.

No one would be able to spoof any individual or organization by name without a certificate of consent. With that much precedent to go on, it would be only a matter of time until consent would be required to make any comment on any individual or any organization, provided it could be shown that someone stood to gain something from the comment; i.e., that the comment was connected with commerce.

This would impose a new complex of barriers between commentators and all things they might comment about. The way it is now, only the laws about libel and slander need to be borne in mind.

Every book, every film would be subject to prior attack on the grounds it exploited someone or something for a commercial purpose.

May the legalists working on "John Goldfarb, Please Come Home" settle this the right way, or generations not yet born will wonder wistfully whatever became of freedom of press in the United States.

Doing The Job

I always thought of Nikita Khrushchev on the job in the same way I thought of Winston Churchill when he was prime minister—as a man doing what he was supposed to do.

I never held it against either of them for slugging it out with their adversaries. It did not make me mad when they refused to be pals with people who didn't expect them to be.

Winston Churchill was at his best, I thought, when he growled that he hadn't become prime minister to dismember the British Empire.

Khrushchev, I thought, was doing what he was supposed to do when he let his adversaries know he was doing everything in his power to make sure that his outfit would bury them.

That's what he was supposed to do. Ever since the time of Warren G. Harding, our head men have been doing everything in their power to make sure our outfit was going to bury Communism.

I CANNOT HATE a man for doing what he is supposed to do. I do not hate a policeman for giving me a ticket. I do not hate a dentist for making me crawl up a wall.

I cannot hate a politician for trying to cut his opponent's jugular in a tight campaign. I had to hand it to Khrushchev for giving it all he had.

When they bounced him out of power last October, I hoped his crowd had attained enough civilization so he wouldn't be exiled. I hoped he would be treated with consideration.

The man was entitled to whatever dignity he could save out of his fall from grace. He had served his party and his country well.

The United States now gives a living allowance to its former heads of state, so they won't have to scrounge the rent money. Khrushchev deserved that much.

In case you missed the report, he is doing all right. He is drawing the maximum government pension of $300 a month and living in a rent-free country house in the country retreat of Usovo, in the pine forests bordering the Moscow River 24 miles west of Moscow.

His wife Nina is drawing $132 a month. The two oldsters spend their time walking, raising prize hogs, experimenting with hybrid corn, hunting game and complaining because the rug was jerked.

Things being the way they are in Russia, there will be no interviews, no pictures, no lionizing of a former leader, as there was in Churchill's case. It may take the Communists another generation to get that far with the technique of raising up and whittling down political leadership.

But they have come far enough to do away with the bullet in the back of the head, or the order to report for duty the next Monday morning on a job no one never heard of in Outer Mongolia.

It's nice to know progress is being made.

Love Can Be Too Blind

Civil War Within Union Could Spread

By Victor Riesel

The thunder of war machines from across the China Sea has not drowned out the noisy, invective-laden civil wars in unions whose smooth operations will be vital to America's troops fighting in Asia, and to astronauts hurtling toward the moon and to the sustenance of American prosperity.

Such a civil war among leaders of key electronics workers, jet engine makers and those who produce communication equipment is ripping the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) wide open.

This feud has been obscured by the dramatic presidential election in the United Steelworkers Union. But the IUE fight could have a more disastrous impact on the nation.

This troubled union has collective bargaining contracts with such vital corporations as General Electric, Westinghouse, International Telephone and Telegraph, Sylvania and Allis Chalmers.

ANY SUSTAINED disruption in this field caused by the rivalry inside this 350,000-member union could affect American industry, its space race and the ballistic missiles warning systems.

This could result from strikes next year sparked by hyper-militant demands resulting from one faction's efforts to prove itself the tougher champion of the workers.

The feud, which already has brought the embittered sides into the federal courts, springs from an election for the national union presidency held last November. The incumbent is the 53-year-old temperamental James B. Carey. His opponent was — and is — the union's New York-New Jersey regional official, Paul Jennings.

There were 325,000 ballots printed, and 253,335 members were eligible to vote. The total vote cast was 133,601. Carey was declared winner by the national headquarters by a 2,193 vote margin.

A SHIFT of one per cent would change the results. Jennings' camp has charged irregularities which would make the old Tammany tiger blush away its stripes.

But more important than the charges is the simple fact that Mr. Jennings simply has asked for a recount and this has been denied by Mr. Carey. This is in basic contradiction to hundreds of speeches Mr. Carey has made on freedom and democracy inside labor.

Mr. Jennings has even offered to let Mr. Carey pick any three members of labor's high command to conduct the recount. The national AFL-CIO President George Meany has offered to help. But Mr. Carey refuses to budge.

Now Mr. Jennings has taken his case to the Washington, D.C., Court of Appeals. If this fails, he will ask Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz to nullify the election and conduct a new poll.

All this will take months and carry the battle right into 1966 when negotiations with the big electronics companies come due.

BY THAT TIME the vituperative civil war, filled with charges of corruption, degeneration and power grabs, will become red hot.

Mr. Carey's national office, for example, has ordered an investigation of the 1960-1964 financial records of the powerful New York-New Jersey District 3, which is Mr. Jennings' base. An auditor arriving at the Jennings' headquarters was told that the books were in a locked room which could not be opened.

Word then was set that no official of District 3 could attend the union's International Executive Board's meeting at Washington Feb. 16. Certainly the opposition will attempt to get into that high command session. Whether they succeed or not, they'll hold their own high command organizing session in Dayton, Ohio, this spring.

Furthermore, Mr. Carey's national office has sent some 25 special representatives into the Jennings region while Jennings supporters curiously have been fired or suspended or reassigned to distant posts.

AN EXTRAORDINARY development is the effort by Mr. Carey's national headquarters to prevent the General Electric Co. from implementing a pact it made with the IUE Local 301, in Schenectady, N. Y. The local agreed to changes in wage patterns after being informed by the company that such changes would enable it to economize sufficiently to permit a $60 million modernization investment in the old plant. Such an investment would save 4,000 jobs.

The workers in Schenectady liked the pact. So did the city's labor leaders. So did the city's officials. So did the city's citizens. So did government officials who see considerable business rippling out of a city million dollar plant modernization.

But the Carey national headquarters did not like it and has gone into U.S. Court for the Southern district of New York for an injunction to nullify the agreement.

The Schenectady members of the IUE, who supported Mr. Jennings, are disturbed. They know that abrogation of the pact would force GE to halt its huge investment.

Such differences inside the union could spread across the U.S. and affect the entire nation.

Today is Friday, Feb. 12, the 43rd day of 1965. There are 322 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1809, Tom Lincoln wrapped a bearskin around his wife, Nancy Hanks, and walked two miles to the nearest neighbor and quietly said, "Nancy's got a boy baby." The infant, born in their log cabin near Hodgenville, Ky., was named Abraham.

Cutting Russian Ties

By David Lawrence

Red-Backed Attacks Violate International Law

The United States has every justification for severing diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union and sending home all personnel of the Russian embassy in Washington. Not only has the American Embassy in Moscow been stoned and the safety of American diplomats jeopardized—with the full approval of the Communist regime itself—but the Soviet premier has pledged military aid to the North Viet Nam government, which has been attacking and killing American citizens.

Americans are in South Viet Nam on a legitimate mission—at the request of the existing government. The attacks on them are, therefore, in violation of international law and constitute a flagrant act of war by the North Viet Nam government.

Since the Soviet Union lines itself up with a government which has made war upon American troops, the question now arises whether reprisals or retaliatory actions against the North Vietnamese will be adequate. The real enemies are Red China and the Soviet Union, both of which have come out in the open in support of the military operations against an independent government in South Viet Nam.

THESE ACTS of aggression will unquestionably continue and aggravate the situation further unless the United States is ready to call for a showdown between this country and the Communists.

What is needed is action by the entire Western Alliance. There certainly is little to be gained by the United States continuing to supply economic, military or financial aid to countries which are unwilling to take the side of the United States and present a unit front to the world against aggression.

There have been in recent months various plans to expand and enlarge trade relationships between the United States and the Communist-bloc countries, which means, of course, that products which are forbidden to be transported directly to the Soviet Union and Red China are then shipped indirectly to those same countries.

Many businessmen, both in Europe and the United States, who are mostly interested in making money have been arguing that trade with Communist areas should be expanded. This trend developed before the wanton attacks on Americans in South Viet Nam and on the America Embassy in Moscow.

Under present circumstances, an economic embargo becomes a logical weapon in order to force some kind of international cooperation that will retrain the enemy from further acts of aggression.

MORE IMPORTANT, however, than any other factor is the treachery committed in Moscow, where the government itself instigated a mob attack on the United States Embassy.

This is an act which destroys whatever faith had been placed in the friendly intentions of the Soviet government.

It's difficult to see how President Johnson now can carry out any plans for a visit to Moscow.

How can there be improvement of "cultural" relations or other exchanges as long as the Soviet government is sending arms and supplies to the North Vietnamese to kill American citizens engaged in defending the South Vietnamese government, whose independence was supposedly guaranteed by international agreements signed by the Communists themselves?

The severance of diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union has often been suggested but has usually been brushed aside as likely to be of no avail. The Soviets know this, and have taken advantage of the passivity of the United States.

A breaking of diplomatic relations could be based upon the many violations by the Moscow government of treaty obligations and American rights that have occurred since the United States did extend recognition. Certainly there have been few cases in history when nations have maintained diplomatic relations after the safety of their personnel has been threatened and violence has been directed against them.

IF DIPLOMATIC relations with the Soviet Union are severed, the position of the United States would grow stronger.

There would, of course, be outcries for a resumption but in the ensuing period America would have the opportunity to judge whether the many acts of infiltration and interference in the internal affairs of governments throughout the world by the Soviet Union would really be ended.

The Soviet apparatus today operates not only in Southeast Asia but in Africa and Latin America as well.

Also, if the United States cut off diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union, it would certainly put a damper upon trade relationships between this country and the Communists. It would also raise questions about whether the United States should continue to give trade advantages to any country which permits financial aid or credits to be furnished to either Moscow or Peking.

It would mean, of course, a termination of all the deals that have been consummated in the last two or three years for the sale of wheat and other products to the Communist-bloc countries.

It's not too big a price to pay in order to gain respect for the American flag at embassies abroad and to bring about a stronger Western Alliance against aggressor states.

Aggressive Approach

By Terry Robards

Visitors to the New York World's Fair this summer may notice a very unusual mail box standing in the shadow of the Unisphere. The box will look modern, compared to the familiar red-white-and-blue receptacles scattered across the nation today. And it will be made of a bright unpainted metal.

Some day soon, the United States Post Office Department will decide whether to replace the half-million mail boxes in existence today with new ones like the box at the fair.

That one is made of stainless steel. Its presence points to an aggressive sort of marketing approach which reflects a new attitude in the steel industry.

Off-criticized for its lack of aggressiveness in marketing over the years, the industry has embarked on a program aimed at creating new markets and protecting old ones.

IN THE VANGUARD of this approach is the stainless steel segment of the booming steel industry. The stainless producers have long been disenchanted with the prospects of increasing profits through boosting their prices.

Although prices have proved to be the most controversial topic in the basic steel business for several years, the stainless producers comprise a somewhat unique portion of the industry, more concerned with other aspects of the market.

The firms which make and sell stainless steel — basically a hybrid or specialty steel — have seen little other than price decreases for their products during most of the last decade. Many competition from a host of other materials — as well as from low-priced imported stainless — has been the major culprit. As a direct result, the stainless producers have been forced to attack the profits squeeze by jumping wholeheartedly into an intensive program of cost reduction and market development.

THE REASON stainless resists stains and corrosion stems from the other metals it contains. The chief alloying element is chromium, which is added to carbon steel in quantities comprising at least 11.5 per cent.

Other metals, such as nickel, manganese and molybdenum, may be added to produce special characteristics. Chief markets for stainless steel are automotive, construction, machinery, food processing and housewares.

As one industry executive put it, "Stainless is closely associated with living standards. It is most used in markets where customers are satisfying their wants, not just their needs. Its greatest potential lies in markets where wants are just beginning to stir."

Teacher Pay Hike, Death Penalty

West Virginia Legislature Action Due On Two Bills

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Pending votes in both chambers on the administration's teacher salary bill and in the House on repeal of the death penalty awaited the legislature before weekend adjournment today.

Scheduled House amendment action on a controversial sweepstakes measure held further prospect of argument which could delay the delegates departure for their homes.

Approval of the pay increase which Gov. Hulett Smith has urged for the state's 17,000 public school teachers appeared certain. The only question was whether legislative action could be completed today or would have to be left hanging until next week.

Senate and House bills reached voting level in identical form. Both call for a three-year program of pay raises at a cost of $10 million next year and $30.5 million over-all.

Dels. Jesse S. Barker, D-Kanawha, and Robert K. Holliday, D-Payette, sponsored the death penalty repeal. As to crimes which now may be punishable by death in the electric chair, life in prison would be the only possible sentence for first-degree murder and the maximum for kidnapping, rape and treason against the state.

The bill includes provision for adding a no-parole restriction to life sentences for these crimes.

Barker, by himself, is sponsor of the proposal to submit to the state's voters next year a constitutional amendment to legalize a state-operated sweepstakes lottery. Approval by two-thirds of both houses is required to put the issue on the election ballot.

Also awaiting a Senate vote was an administration bill designed to keep dummy corporations from doing business with the state. The measure would require disclosure of names and addresses of officers or partners in firms selling to the state.

W. Va. Liquor Bill Called 'Camouflage'

CHARLESTON (AP) — A bill aimed at easing West Virginia's strict liquor laws was deemed as a "camouflage" for illegal sale of liquor before a legislative committee Thursday.

Opponents of the measure — some 150 strong — packed the gallery to testify before the House Temperance Committee holding a hearing on the bill sponsored by Sen. Chester R. Hubbard, R-Ohio.

Oval D. Damron, Logan County prosecutor, submitted a statement which labeled the bill as device to "camouflage illegal possession and sale" of liquor.

Damron's statement presented to the committee said the bill "contains so many evils as to be compared to 'Pandora's Box'."

Hubbard stood alone in defending the bill, which would amend the liquor law by allowing a West Virginian to keep liquor in places other than his home and to have someone else buy liquor for him.

Present law requires liquor to be kept only in a person's residence. It goes further to state liquor can be bought only by the person using it in his home to serve guests and member of the family.

Tompos' Bill Aims At Malicious Phoning

CHARLESTON — Sen. William Tompos, D-Hancock, today introduced a bill in the West Virginia Senate to curb malicious telephoning.

Use of the telephone for threats or to make obscene statements to a female of any age or a boy under 16 would be a misdemeanor. Offenders could be fined up to $500 and/or jailed up to six months under the measure.

Training Meeting Held On Nutrition Topics

LISBON — A panel comprised of Dr. Wade Bacon, Dr. Edward Tullis and Mrs. Ruth Kauffman, all of Lisbon, and Mrs. Donald Thompson, Beaver Local physical education teacher, discussed "Do Today's Young People Really Have Nutritional Problems?" at a training meeting held Thursday night in Lincoln School.

Representatives present included 4-H club advisers, junior leaders, leaders of Camp Fire Girls and Cub Scout den mothers.

Miss Ann Overturf, Columbianna County extension agent in home economics, presided, showed films and talked on food and nutrient requirements of youth, methods for youth leaders to use in teaching nutrition and planning adequate menus. The youth groups then met separately to discuss application of the information.

Shawnee Scout Group Airs Monthly Reports

LISBON — Twenty attended the monthly meeting of the Shawnee Boy Scout District Wednesday at Camp McKinley. Bob Boyd of Salem, chairman presided. Routine reports were given and plans for the spring camporee and training and awards dinner were discussed. Kenneth Mugridge is district executive head.

'Close Miss' With Jetliner?

Twisted Metal In Water Seen Key To Plane Dive

NEW YORK (AP) — A mass of twisted metal lying under 75 feet of murky water apparently holds the key today to why an Eastern Air Lines plane dived into the Atlantic Monday night, killing all 84 aboard.

Salvage crews hope to shed some light on the airliner's fate today as they try to bring to the surface the tangle of aircraft wreckage that appears to be the remains of Flight 663.

The underwater debris was discovered Thursday 6.7 miles south-southeast of Jones Inlet, near the point where the airliner was believed to have hit the sea.

There was some indication that the ill-fated, propeller-driven DC7B might have had a "close miss" with an incoming jetliner seconds before the crash.

"We had a close miss here," said one pilot of the jetliner with 102 persons aboard, his voice captured on tape at Kennedy Airport's control tower.

Another said: "He was well over the top of us — he was well over the top of us and it looked like he went into an absolute vertical turn and kept rolling."

However the Federal Aviation Agency warned against drawing conclusions from the tape.

"The vital question," said Regional Director Oscar Bakke, "is whether the Eastern plane was already in trouble when the apparent near miss occurred."

After three days of dragging the Atlantic, a charter fishing boat, the Jess-Lu III, hooked onto what divers said appeared to be the main part of the 52-ton plane's fuselage.

Pieces of wreckage have been picked up over the past three days. Ten bodies have been found.

The DC7B, with Capt. F. R. Carson in charge, apparently rolled over in the air before it plunged from 3,700 feet into the sea minutes after taking off from Kennedy Airport.

There was no indication of impending disaster in the last words of the Eastern pilot as he made a successful takeoff from Runway 31.

According to the taped radio transmissions, each plane had been notified of, and acknowledged, the others' presence when they were about six miles apart.

"Traffic at eleven o'clock, six miles, southeastbound, just climbing out of three thousand feet," the Kennedy control tower radioed to the pilot of Pan American's jet Flight 212, just coming in from Puerto Rico. The traffic was the Eastern plane.

"We have the traffic," the jetliner replied 12 seconds later. Moments afterward, Flight 663 was told, "Traffic, two o'clock, five miles, northeastbound, below you."

"Okay," Eastern replied. "We have the traffic. Turning one seven zero, six six three. Good night."

"Good night, sir," replied Kennedy.

Exactly 60 seconds later, the Pan Am pilot radioed in response to landing instructions: "Uh, ok. We had a close miss here. Uh, were turning now to, uh, three six zero and, uh, did you have another target (on the radar scope) in this area at this same spot where we were just a minute ago?"

Kennedy tower replied: "Uh, affirmative, however, not on my scope at present time."

Pan Am 212: "Is he still on the scope?"

Kennedy: "No sir."

Pan Am 212: "It looks like he's in the bay then because we saw him. He looked like he winged over to miss us, and we tried to avoid him and uh, we saw a bright flash about one minute later."

That same ball of fire was also seen by the pilots of at least two other planes, and by startled persons near the South Shore of Long Island.

Bakke said there apparently was no actual danger of a collision, although the pilots might have thought there was.

lawmakers adjourned for the weekend. His measure would make providing such services permissive on the part of school boards rather than mandatory.

Several House members viewed Hildebrand's bill as one more likely to be acceptable in that chamber.

Senators have indicated they are favorable to compulsory legislation which is called for in the measure sponsored by Methodist Sens. Frazier Reams Jr., D-Lucas, and Charles H. Jones, R-Hamilton.

More than a score of bills were introduced Thursday in the House which now has 192 measures to consider. Senators received 12 more measures and they now have 82.

Among new House bills were measures to toughen laws covering sex crimes, kidnapping, and child stealing; set minimum standards for used car lots, and to call for expiration of drivers' licenses on Sept. 30 of every fourth year.

New Senate measures would set quality restrictions for new and retreaded tires and boost the pay of county judges from a maximum $4,000 a year to $4,500.

Bill Would Double Governor's Salary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill calling for doubling the salaries of the Ohio governor and other elected state officials is being prepared by Rep. Arthur C. Katterheirich, R-Auglaize.

The legislator said he planned to introduce the bill next week, fixing the governor's pay at $50,000. It is $25,000 a year now.

The bill also would raise salaries of the secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and attorney general from $15,000 to $30,000 a year. The $8,000 salary of the lieutenant governor would be increased to $15,000.

It was reported that Katterheirich got no encouragement from the governor's office for his proposed bill. When House Minority Leader A. G. Lancione, D-Belmont, recently said he would proposed pay increases for these state officials, the governor said he was not advocating any increases.

Katterheirich pointed out that any increases voted this year could not be effective until January 1967 when new terms for the offices begin.

Car Dives In Culvert, Injures Man Slightly

WILLIS E. SNOW, 25, of Chester R. D. 1 escaped with a bruised lip when his auto smashed through a guardrail and dived into a deep culvert in the 1700 block of Dresden Ave. at 12:43 a. m. today, police reported.

The crash caused extensive damage to the front and right side of Snow's 1963 two-door hardtop, officers said. There also was damage to a 15-foot length of city-owned guardrail. Snow told police he was driving north on Dresden about 35 miles an hour when he pulled off the highway, not seeing the culvert. He said he was unable to control the car because of deep mud on the berm. Rain was blamed for cutting visibility, officers said.

"If you still have problems Monday come back."

William Hart, pro-Abel director of a Pittsburgh District, said in a statement today that "obviously there is some hanky-panky going on."

He specifically mentioned Pittsburgh, where he said the vote count was slow from two McDonald locals, and Philadelphia, a mainstay of McDonald support.

The vote count slowed to a trickle in the third day after the election although each side claimed there were some 300 big locals still uncounted.

The latest figures: AP — Abel 278-943; McDonald 269,182; locals reporting 2,859.

Abel figures — Abel 272,289; McDonald 242,286; locals reporting 2,531.

McDonald figures — Abel 173,864; McDonald 220,849; locals reporting 1,681.

Locals must report counts to international headquarters by mail within 10 days of the election. The union's elected tellers then count them under the supervision of the Honest Ballot Association, a private group, and must report the result back to the locals by May 1.

in not maintaining publicly-used steps in good condition.

The judgment apparently is tax free under federal law. The city is not insured against such incidents, the solicitor said in response to a query. He said insurance cannot be obtained in such instances for a municipal corporation.

The director, after consulting with the solicitor, said the street department will be asked to check immediately on about 20 flights of steps that are city-maintained. Any not in proper condition will be closed at least until repairs can be made, he said.

Council will be asked Monday night to establish a long-range policy in regard to the steps, the director indicated.

If the case is taken up, it will go to the 7th District Court of Appeals. But in such a case, there always are the preliminary motions for a new trial in the court in which the verdict was returned.

Here's A Play-By-Play On White House Activity

Johnson ordered the second round of U. S. retaliatory raids.

Johnson Takes Stroll

Then he took a walk. Strolling through the White House lobby, he picked up a stream of reporters who followed, asking about the situation. Johnson had nothing to say.

"I think I'll just walk up to the house," he said. Newly named presidential assistant Marvin Watson, walked along.

Curiously, Johnson strolled up to the White House living quarters, went in and right through. Then he turned around and walked back to the executive office building, across the street from the White House.

He went to the office of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, and sat down to talk. "They did a little bit of thinking out loud," Reedy said later. Johnson spent about 20 minutes with Humphrey.

After their Wednesday talk, Johnson returned to his own office, turned his attention to other affairs — but got periodic reports on the Vietnamese situation.

He went to bed at about midnight. But at 3:30 a.m. Thursday, he was awake and on the telephone to the White House situation room. He called three more times before he got up for the day.

Reedy said Johnson put in the same kind of night Saturday after the first decision to hit North Viet Nam.

Second Raid Announced
Later, while Johnson studied a lengthy intelligence report on the international situation, the White House made its announcement of the second retaliatory raid. It sent nearly 150 American and Vietnamese warplanes to strike targets in the North.

Soon Johnson was on the telephone again, talking with key congressmen about Viet Nam and other matters. During the afternoon, he met with the Cabinet and they discussed the situation in Southeast Asia.

Saturday and Sunday were the same kind of days.
This is what happened:
Johnson was in his oval office, but the official calendar was clear of appointments when word of the Pleiku attack reached him. It came first to the national military command center, on the second floor of the Pentagon, and was flashed at once to the White House and State Department.

It was shortly after 2 p.m. The attack had occurred little more than an hour earlier.

Within minutes, Johnson was on the telephone to his top men at those posts. In both cases, the No. 2 official was in charge. McNamara, released from the hospital Thursday, was recovering at home. Rusk, treated for a cold earlier, was vacationing in Cocoa Beach, Fla.

So Johnson's first calls went to Ball and Undersecretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance.

From the Pentagon, Vance relayed word of the Communist assault to McNamara.

Both Vance and Ball soon were at the White House.

Nonstop Conferences

Johnson had a nonstop round of conferences that lasted from shortly after 3 p.m. until late in the evening.

He had dinner at his desk.

White House officials have no detailed list of who Johnson saw or called. "At a time like that, I didn't try to keep a diary," said one.

In Saigon, Bundy was nearing the end of a four-day fact-finding mission ordered by Johnson.

He had gone to Viet Nam to survey the military and political situation in the wake of government unrest. Now the new crisis took precedence.

It was early Sunday in Viet Nam.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor met with South Vietnamese officials. They decided retaliatory action was warranted, and passed that recommendation to Washington.

Bundy called off a planned trip to the guerrilla-plagued Mekong Delta and headed north, instead, to Pleiku, 240 miles from the capital. He looked over the scene of the attack, then moved on to the 8th Field Hospital at Nhatrang to visit wounded Americans in their corrugated hut wards.

Then he flew back to Saigon for a speedy trip back to Washington.

It was late evening in Washington, and Johnson already had ordered retaliation.

Calls Security Council

He summoned the National Security Council to the White House Cabinet room at 7:45 p.m. An hour and 15 minutes later, the top-secret session was over.

Vance and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, went to the Pentagon to carry out Johnson's orders and direct the raid.

The President, who had invited congressional leaders to the session, later telephoned Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who had not been present, to tell him of the situation.

Meanwhile, first reports of the carrier-based raids on North Viet Nam were flashed to the Pentagon, and on to the White House. They reached the executive mansion at about 1:45 a.m. Johnson got them at once. Throughout the night, the President talked repeatedly with his own command center to get fresh reports.

"I would say he got very little sleep," Reedy reported.

Ball had kept Rusk up to date on the situation with a series of telephone reports. Now the acting secretary got one himself, at about 7 a.m. Sunday, then hurried to the White House.

Council Reconvenes

McNamara and Vance went to the White House, too. The National Security Council reconvened at 8 a.m. to assess the situation. Johnson told its members he was ordering U.S. dependents out of South Viet Nam. Johnson and his wife left the White House to make their way through a downpour to services at St. Marks Episcopal Church, near the Capitol.

Afterwards, they dropped in at a coffee hour and spent about 10 minutes visiting with other church-goers. Then they returned to the White House.

At the Pentagon, McNamara told an early afternoon news conference details of the raids staged by 49 U.S. Navy jets. Johnson watched on television.

McGeorge Bundy arrived at Andrews Air Force Base, in nearby Maryland, late Sunday night. "It is my invariable rule to talk to the President first," he said. He did so, at about midnight.

Monday, the National Security Council convened again, this time to hear Bundy's report.

Club Sees Film At Summitville

SUMMITVILLE — A traffic safety film, "Mechanized Death," was screened by Ohio Highway Patrolman Robert Franklin of the Lisbon post at a meeting of the Women's Civic Club Thursday night with Mrs. Paul Karaffa.

Thirteen attended the meeting at which Mrs. Fred A. Rogers, president, was in charge. Discussion was held on problem drivers.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Marjorie Roberts and Mrs. Robert Carter.

Valentine decorations were used. The club will meet March 11 with Mrs. Ernest Phillips.

Rogers Man Receives Term In Bank Holdup

Robert McMillan, 35, of Rogers has been sentenced to a 5-year term for the $4,665 robbery of the Koppel branch of the Union National Bank of Pittsburgh last Sept. 9.

McMillan pleaded guilty to the charge and drew the prison term Wednesday.

The money was recovered when McMillan and a companion were nabbed by Ellwood City police a few minutes after the robbery.

Industry Woman Gets Secretary Post At Jail

BEAVER — Mrs. Margaret Vorkapich of Industry, secretary to Controller James F. Tress, has been named secretary at the County Jail.

A change in Criminal Court procedures has necessitated a secretary at the jail. Mrs. Vorkapich will be replaced in the controller's office by Mrs. Antoinette Rose of Beaver.

to survey student bodies of area high schools.

The committee expects to have the branch in operation on a part-time basis in September with night classes planned in the high school building.

The academic center can become a full-time operation in the building when a new senior high school is completed.

Planned Legislation Seen Branch Factor

In action that could have a great effect on a Kent State University Center in East Liverpool, the Board of Regents Thursday recommended legislation to permit state universities to require, if necessary, that a student spend part or all of his first two years at a branch rather than a main campus.

The regulation could be invoked if the main campus was too crowded. The regents also recommended that admission laws be changed so that only graduates of Ohio high schools must be admitted to state schools.

In a meeting yesterday in Columbus, the regents recommended the state get started on its latest proposed university act by July 1, 1967.

The regents previously had proposed the creation of a state university at Dayton but yesterday's action formally asks the Legislature to authorize it.

The regents also recommended that if voters approve Gov. James A. Rhodes' proposed $290 million bond issue May 4, $48 million of it should be used on three new college campuses.

The regents proposed $37.5 million for the new Cleveland State University, $7.5 million to establish a Toledo Medical School and $3 million for new work on the Dayton campus of Miami-Ohio State.

The regents estimate that higher education will get approximately $145 million of the $290 million bond issue.

Out of the rest of the new bond funds, the regents would allocate $48 million for community colleges and branches — $12.5 million of it for Ohio State — $12.5 million for technical institutions and $36.5 million for science and other facilities at existing schools.

Fireman In Wellsville Answers Call On Foot

The Wellsville fire department dispatched a man on foot with a fire extinguisher to answer an alarm in its own front yard Thursday.

The firemen quelled a blaze in a clothes dryer at the home of David Doyle, 919 Main St., about 100 feet from the station.

Clothing in the dryer ignited, probably because of failure of a thermostat or some other control device, firemen said. The extinguisher was used to quell the fire in the clothing. The home was filled with smoke, but the only damage was to the dryer and the clothing. The alarm was received at 11:25 a.m.

Some Funny Foibles

Facts About The Famous

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Some facts and foibles about famous folks:

Robert E. Lee, hero of the Confederacy, didn't like to be touched or to have anyone walk too closely behind him. George Washington rarely shook hands as U.S. president. Abraham Lincoln is never known to have owned a Chinese backscratcher. James Garfield was the first southpaw elected to the White House.

Benjamin Franklin, the apostle of thrift, was sometimes overdrawn at the bank. Oscar Hammerstein drafted most of his song lyrics standing at an old-fashioned desk. In his old age, Mark Twain preferred to do his writing while in bed. Mary Roberts Rinehart used the same fountain pen for more than a quarter of a century to write her mystery novels.

Sigmund Freud was an inveterate cigar smoker. So were "Poker Alice," the gambling dame in frontier Deadwood, S.D., and Amy Lowell, the New England poetess. Another New England poetess, Emily Dickinson, wore only white clothing the last years of her reclusive existence. Lord Byron in his youth drank wine from a skull to remind him of the transience of life.

Lord Nelson, Britain's great naval hero, usually got seasick in stormy weather. Oliver Wendell Holmes carried a buckeye in his pocket to protect him from rheumatism. Author A. Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes, believed strongly in spiritualism.

Theodore Roosevelt's hobbies were bird watching, tennis, boxing and jujitsu. John Quincy Adams was expert at billiards. Rutherford B. Hayes at croquet. Both Warren G. Harding and Harry S. Truman did well at poker. But when it came to pitching hay, riding the mechanical horse, swinging Indian clubs and performing on the harmonica, Calvin Coolidge was the presidential standout.

Jack Dempsey carried a tattered old sweater to the ring as a good luck charm. Lefty Gomez refused to have his picture taken when he was warming up for a big game. Primo Carnera was sure he'd have bad luck if anyone tossed a hat on his hotel bed. Manager John J. McGraw of the New York Giants sometimes wrote a religious organization for guidance if his baseball team was having a losing streak. Ernest Hemingway knocked on wood or rubbed a rabbit's foot.

Moved To Hospital From Jail

Doctor's Protest Frees Negro Chained To Bed

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — The chaining of a Negro civil rights leader to his hospital bed after he was transferred from jail when he became ill brought a protest from the patient's doctor and the shackle was removed several hours later.

The Rev. James Bevel, serving a five-day term for contempt of court, was ordered moved to a hospital Thursday. Bevel, an associate of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was reported by Dr. E. A. Maddox to be suffering from a virus infection with a fever of 102 degrees.

Maddox said Bevel was chained to his bed with a leg shackle and a sheriff's deputy was posted as a guard outside the door.

The shackle was removed late Thursday night after the Negro doctor made a written request to Sheriff James G. Clark. The doctor's request said Bevel needed rest and could not get it with his ankle chained to the bed.

There was no immediate comment from Clark concerning the incident.

Bevel was sentenced to five days in jail and fined $50 last Monday during an adult voter registration march to the courthouse. He and other Negroes were charged with violating a state court injunction prohibiting courthouse demonstrations.

The right to vote campaign in Selma will be resumed Monday when the Dallas County Board of Registrars meets for the last time this month to register new voters.

King, who has led the civil rights struggle, left Selma Thursday to fill a speaking engagement but promised to return over the weekend.

An estimated 400 Negroes, some appearing to be no more than 10 or 11 years old, marched to the courthouse Thursday in another demonstration but Clark made no effort to disperse them.

They left in small groups after kneeling on the sidewalk in prayer.

The sheriff's tactics in forcing 160 Negro students to go on a three-mile forced march Wednesday, alternately walking and running, brought sharp criticism Thursday from the Selma Times-Journal.

The newspaper said in a front-page editorial that "there seems to be no reasonable explanation" for the incident.

To Help You With Your Tax Filing

Here's A 'Yes' And 'No' On Deducting Expenses

This article, the last in a series of five on the income tax, lists expenses that may be deducted and those that may not be. It also explains what income is taxable, what is not.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — You may find, in making out your 1964 income tax return, that your deductible personal expenses were greater than the standard deduction which the government lets all taxpayers take without listing them.

If yours were greater, you'll save money by claiming them in full. But to do so, you must itemize them to prove you had them and you must file your return on form 1040.

This will give you a general picture of expenses you can deduct for, and some you can't:

You cannot deduct federal income taxes; federal Social Security taxes withheld from your pay; Social Security payments you make for someone working in your home, like a maid; auto licenses unless based on value of the auto; drivers' licenses, auto inspection or parking fees; poll taxes; income taxes you pay for someone else — although you can claim those as part of your contribution to the support of a dependent.

Generally, you cannot deduct the tax on alcoholic beverages or tobacco, or the tax on hotel bills or tickets to sports events or theater. Federal excise taxes on furs, cosmetics, optical goods, jewelry and luggage are not deductible.

You cannot deduct the federal tax on gasoline or motor fuels — although you can deduct the state tax — or telephone calls, or the tax on bus, rail, or plane fares.

You cannot deduct for marriage license fees, fishing or hunting licenses, dog licenses, federal estate, inheritance or gift taxes, state inheritance or gift taxes, or the self-employment tax you pay on earnings from self-employment.

You cannot deduct local government charges for sewerage or water service or garbage collection; for assessments for construction of streets, sidewalks or water and sewerage systems which tend to increase the value of your property; child adoption costs; damages paid to others because of your negligence; club or fraternity dues if membership is for your personal pleasure; fines; or the expense of travel back and forth from home, including bridge or highway tolls; funeral expenses; or political campaign contributions.

You can deduct state and local income and general sales taxes. In 37 states and the District of Columbia there are sales taxes. If you haven't kept records of the sales taxes you spent, get from your nearest Internal Revenue Service director the government table showing how much sales tax you are permitted to deduct without proving how much tax you normally spent.

You can deduct personal property and real estate taxes; interest on a personal loan or a house mortgage and the interest on delinquent taxes and personal property bought on the installment plan.

You can deduct for union dues and dues in professional societies, alimony payments by the person making them, fees to employment agencies, and books or newspapers bought for use in your profession.

You can deduct expenses for your education but only if it was to help or improve you in keeping up with the skills required on your present job or to meet your employer's express requirements for keeping your salary.

You can't deduct if the education was for personal reasons or to help you get a better job.

You can deduct for contributions to charitable, religious, or educational organizations such as the Community Chest, Salvation Army, churches, Red Cross, heart and cancer associations, tuberculosis societies, and gifts, but not dues, to the YMCA, YWCA, YMHA, YWHA, and American Legion.

In general your deductions for contributions cannot exceed 20 per cent of your income but you are allowed a deduction up to 30 per cent of income for contributions paid to certain churches, educational organizations, hospitals and medical research organizations.

This permission was broadened in 1964 to cover certain organizations substantially supported by the general public. Because of limited space there is no room to go into details on that here.

Under-65 people can deduct for medicine and drug expenses but only that part of them which exceeds one per cent of income and then only when it is added to medical expenses which are not deductible until they exceed three per cent of income.

But, because of a change in the rules, people over 65 can deduct their medical and medicine expenses in full. And, if you're paying more than half the support of your over-65 parents, you can deduct their medical and medicine expenses in full.

And this is new: You can deduct 10 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles and seven cents thereafter for business use of your car, instead of deducting actual itemized costs.

The list of deductible personal expenses fills many pages in the government guides, far too long a list for anything like full inclusion here.

Sen. Sargus Co-Sponsors 3 New Bills

By WILLIAM S. VANCE

Review Staff Correspondent COLUMBUS — Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, D-Belmont, co-sponsored two bills Thursday to create a separate department of wildlife and to raise the salary of County Court judges.

He co-sponsored the wildlife bill with Sen. Thomas Gilmarin, D-Mahoning. It would abolish the Division of Wildlife under the Department of Natural Resources and establish it as a separate department. The County Court bill would raise maximum pay for judges from $2,500 to $3,000. Pay would be computed at $500 plus 6 cents per capita in the County Court District, instead of 3 cents per capita as now allowed.

Sargus also co-sponsored a bill Wednesday afternoon to provide unemployment compensation coverage for public employees.

It would be mandatory for state employees and permissive for local government employees. "It seems to me," said Sargus, "that the ravages of unemployment hit the families of public employees with the same impact it does workers in private enterprise."

He co-sponsored the bill with Sen. Charles Whalen, R-Montgomery, who noted that federal employees, who outnumber state employees 2-to-1 in Ohio, have had unemployment compensation protection for several years.

Sargus also said Wednesday he is writing to U.S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, to urge him to lend his support to the strip mine legislation Sargus is sponsoring.

Sargus said he will ask Lausche to either testify at a hearing or be represented here. First hearing on the bill is scheduled in the Senate Agriculture and Conservation Committee for 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Please don't bury me. Answer me. What can be done about a foreman who takes his men apart, piece by piece, and bares their faults for all to see?

He never criticizes a person privately. He must have an audience — and the larger the better.

What makes a man want to strip other men of all dignity? Why must he embarrass and humiliate them before their fellow workers?

At present he is picking on a young man who is handicapped. The boy is conscientious and eager to do well. He tries harder than anyone in the shop because he is determined that his output be as great, and the quality of his work as good, as the others. This foreman has heaped so much abuse on the poor fellow it's heartbreaking.

I have a hunch the foreman needs a few sessions on the couch. Would you care to comment? — OBSERVER OF MAN'S INHUMANITY TO MAN.

Dear Observer: Your hunch is my hunch. Sadistic and brutal behavior is a sign of a disturbed personality. People who must ridicule and humiliate others are basically very unhappy with themselves.

The foreman may have serious doubts about his own masculinity and is fearful that others may have doubts, too. This could prompt him to behave in an overly aggressive way.

The couch could be helpful but first the foreman has to accept the fact that he needs help.

Real Winners

Dear Ann: I read with interest your letter about the "Pig Party" dreamed up by a fraternity in a Long Island college. This example of cruelty is not exclusively a fraternity stunt. We had something similar in

WE TRY— to bring you the best in drinks and snacks at all times. Stop in and see how we please you!

HARMONY BAR 1755 DRESDEN AVE.

the Midwest. It was called the "Pig Pool."

Several times a year there were mass social horrors laughingly referred to as "Mixers." These get-togethers were arranged between the men's and women's dorms for the purpose of helping students get acquainted.

The male dorm at which I lived took up collections. The proceeds were given out as consolation prizes to the man in the dorm who got stuck with the ugliest girl.

A good friend of mine who won the pool during his senior year married the "prize pig" two years later. That was in 1955. Today they have five beautiful children and are blissfully happy.

The campus beauty who was homecoming queen has been divorced twice and currently is embroiled in a scandal involving embezzlement and adultery. So maybe they should give those "consolation" prizes to the guy who gets the prettiest girl.—CRITIC.

Dear Critic: Amen, Brother, Amen.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Lincoln Stories Are Always Popular

All sorts of stories by Abraham Lincoln and about him have come down to us. Some are imagined, some real. A great number of them have been documented. One source of considerable reliability is "Lincoln's Yarns and Stories," with an introduction by Colonel Alexander Dr. Garry Myers.

Der K. McClure who knew Lincoln well, helped to nominate him for President, and served as Mustering Officer at Harrisburg in 1862.

It's a collection of funny and witty stories which made Abraham Lincoln famous as "America's Greatest Story Teller."

Here are a few from that old book.

"MY first strong impression of Mr. Lincoln," says a lady of Springfield, "was made by one of his kind deeds. I was going with a little friend for my first trip alone on the railroad cars. It was an epoch of my life. I had planned for it and dreamed of it for weeks. The day I was to go came, but as the hour of the train approached, the hackman, through some neglect, failed to call for my trunk. As the minutes went on, I realized, in a panic of grief, that I should miss the train. I was standing by the gate, my hat and gloves asked, sobbing as if my heart would break, when Mr. Lincoln came

"Why, what's the matter?" he asked, and I poured out all my story.

"How big's the trunk? There's still time, if it isn't too big." And he pushed through the gate and up to the door. My mother and I took him up to my room, where my little old-fashioned trunk stood, locked and tied. "Oh, ho," he cried, "wipe your eyes and come on quick." And before I knew what he was going to do, he had shouldered the trunk, was down stairs, and striding out of the yard.

DOWN the street he went, fast as his legs could carry him, I trotting behind, drying my tears as I went. We reached the station in time. Mr. Lincoln put me on the train, kissed me good-bye, and told me to have a good time. It was just like him.

Superintendent Chandler, of the Telegraph Office in the War Department, once told how President Lincoln wrote telegrams. Said he:

"Mr. Lincoln frequently wrote telegrams in my office. His method of composition was slow and laborious. It was evident that he thought out what he was going to say before he touched his pen to the paper. He would sit looking out of the window, his left elbow on the table, his hand scratching his temple, his lips moving, and frequently he spoke the sentence aloud or in a half whisper.

"After he was satisfied that he had the proper expression, he would write it out." If one examines the originals of Lincoln's telegrams and letters, he will find very few erasures and very little interlining. This was because he had them definitely in his mind before writing them.

WHEN "Abe" was fourteen years of age, John Hanks journeyed from Kentucky to Indiana and lived with the Lincolns. He described "Abe's" habits thus:

"When Lincoln and I returned to the house from work, he would go to the cupboard, snatch a piece of corn-bread, take down a book, sit down on a chair, cock his legs up as high as his head, and read.

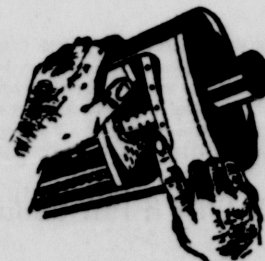

"He and I worked barefooted, grubbed it, plowed, mowed, cradled together, plowed corn, gathered it, and shucked corn. 'Abe' read constantly when he had an opportunity."

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruce —

Dear Ladies: I beg you, do not use an oven cleaner to clean a pot or a pan until you find out what it contains. Are you aware that lots of oven cleaners contain lye? What if that got down into the pores of your pan?

Read the contents - and Joe Blow's directions. Some oven cleaners do not tell you, "Don't use this on pots and pans. So be careful about using these cleaners on the inside of any pan, especially aluminum and cast iron."

I cannot make it too strong - THIS IS DANGEROUS - like adding household bleaches or ammonia or bleaches to some products. It just isn't safe.

Read directions and especially the caution labels on anything you buy today. After all, the companies who make these products hire fabulous chemists to test these things. They know - and this is the reason they put labels on products - for you to read.

If in doubt, one can always write to the manufacturer. His address is usually on the label. Don't take chances. I love you too much.

"CAUTIOUS HELOISE."

DEAR HELOISE: Did you ever fight a losing battle with a heating pad which you needed on your back?

I pinned my heating pad to the inside of a sleeveless blouse, being sure to pin through the cover of the pad only.

I put the blouse on, and the heat is exactly where I want it. I wear it when resting and can turn over with ease. I use it during the day while watching TV or knitting.

MABEL G.

DEAR HELOISE: Wrap a piece of nylon net around your sponge the next time you wash the car... or make a bag of net and slip the sponge inside the bag. Then see how easy it is to wash the car!

Wow, does it do the job...

MOLLIE.

DEAR HELOISE: We hear so much about litter bugs, and I should like to pass on a hint for you who carry purses (litter bags!).

I'm forever putting gum wrappers, etc., in my purse so that I won't litter the streets and highways. (With small children it is especially hard to keep a neat purse.)

With a safety pin, I attached a plastic sandwich bag to the inside of each purse.

Then, I throw the bag and its contents away when necessary.

FAITHFUL READER.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER
DEAR HELOISE: We call iodine, "Jumping Juice." When applied to a cut, each youngster jumps up and down!

M. B. H.

DEAR HELOISE: To make a sewing machine needle smooth in a hurry, take a piece of emery cloth or sandpaper and sew over it several times.

Presto, your needle is smooth again.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Attorneys have asked for a change of venue for a Negro youth indicted for murder in the same case which attracted worldwide attention when he was sentenced to death at the age of 15.

Preston Cobb Jr., now 19, was reindicted on the murder charge Wednesday.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals overturned Cobb's 1961 conviction on the grounds his constitutional rights had been

Gronouski Praises Johnson On Experiment With Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General John A. Gronouski is bubbling over with enthusiasm for President Johnson's experiment in full-dress cabinet meetings.

Thursday's meeting was "the most effective and exciting I have seen in the 16 months I have been in Washington," Gronouski said. "In that one session the Cabinet jelled as a working body."

"This kind of stimulation is just too good to be kept inside. The other Cabinet members felt the same - there was immense excitement among us after it was over."

President John F. Kennedy

felt more could be accomplished through individual briefings with Cabinet members on particular problems. But Johnson favors meetings of the full 10-man body.

"Everybody talked constructively about everyone's else's job," Gronouski said. "It was like a very active college seminar. The President wanted us to throw in our ideas about the other guy's area. You really got a feeling of what the government is all about."

"There was a brilliant briefing and discussion on Viet Nam," Gronouski said of the hour-and-a-half session at the White House.

Gronouski said Johnson discussed the Cabinet concept again Thursday. "He wants us to make our own decisions and not call on him about every little question," the postmaster general related.

2 More Indians Set Selves Afire In Language Protest

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Two more Indians set themselves afire in protest against the proclamation of Hindi as India's only official language, reports reaching here today said.

The headmaster of an elementary school near Kulitalai, in Madras State, burned himself to death. A farmer in the same state poured gasoline over his clothes and set himself afire. He was hospitalized in serious condition.

Two other Indians in Madras State burned themselves to death last month, and at least 33 persons have been killed this week in rioting in southern India over the language issue. Hundreds have been injured and thousands arrested.

Police opened fire on a mob of 1,000 demonstrators Thursday night in Madras city, killing a 17-year-old youth. The mob stoned police and set railway coaches afire.

Other mobs were reported forcing passengers from trains and burning railway cars, disrupting rail service throughout the state.

A student-directed strike paralyzed Madras, a city of nearly 2 million.

The strike appeared spreading throughout the state, which has a population of about 36 million.

The turmoil, which has spread to five of India's 16 states, produced a government crisis for Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri. Two top officials, food Minister Chidambaram Subramaniam and O. V. Algesan, minister of state for petroleum and chemicals, resigned. Both are from south Madras.

Hindi became India's only official language Jan. 26 under a 15-year-old provision of the constitution. A separate bill says English "may" continue as an alternate to Hindi for 10 years, but states which don't use the language fear that speakers of Hindi will freeze out English and dominate those who don't speak the official language.

Expansion Cost Up

CLEVELAND (AP)—A total of $396 million was spent by greater Cleveland industries and utilities on plant expansion last year, according to a report Thursday by the Greater Cleveland Growth Board and the Chamber of Commerce. This was an increase of about 20 per cent over the $314 million spent for expansion of existing industries in 1963.

Rep. Bow Raps Johnson Moves

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Republican Congressman Frank T. Bow of Ohio says President Johnson has used "financial gimmicks" to keep his 1965 budget under the $100 billion mark.

Bow of Canton, ranking GOP member of the House Appropriations Committee, told a news conference here Thursday that Johnson's budget is an "illusion . . . arrived at by juggling and financial gimmicks. The fact is that the President has asked for $106.5 billion obligatory authority."

"And that's not all. He wants another $6 billion in supplements," Bow added.

"So it is not $100 billion that we are grappling with . . . (but) $112.4 billion . . .

"This budget contains nest eggs of many new spending programs. To start — a little bit more for education, a little bit more for health, a little bit more to make the country beautiful and a little bit more to fight poverty."

"All these little bits, if approved in 1965, will grow and grow and grow."

Farm Boy Killed

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A 7-year-old boy was mangled to death Thursday when he fell into a feed conveyor at his father's farm near Dresden, about 10 miles from here. The victim was Wayne Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Williams.

IRS Agent Testifies In Income Tax Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—An Internal Revenue Service agent testified in federal court that Leo (Laps) Mocer, Summit County rackets figure, was estimated by the service to have a gross income totaling $30,687 for the four years 1958 through 1961. Mocer is on trial on charges of failing to file income tax returns for those years.

The agent, Stafford C. Vale, said the investigations of Mocer by the tax people began in September, 1961. He said he interviewed Mocer the following spring at Mocer's home in fashionable Northampton Township and was told that Mocer had "many, many thousands of dollars" before he entered the Ohio Penitentiary in 1953 on an extortion conviction and when he left the prison in 1957.

A Sectional Crown? . . .

Seven long basketball seasons have passed since the East Liverpool Potters last wore the Sectional Class AA championship crown.

In fact, during the last five years, the Potters haven't been able to get the Sectional tournament off the ground, failing to win a game in five tries.

This year appears to be different. The Potters have tabbed themselves the team to beat when the tournament gets under way in a few weeks.

East Liverpool, under Frank Chan in his first season, has shown steady improvement since the slow start in early games and has beaten the cream of the Sectional tourney crop, namely Steubenville Big Red and Toronto.

The tournament will be played at the Community Arena in Steubenville which is more or less a home court for two participants—Big Red and Steubenville Central.

The last time the Potters won the Sectional was in the 1956-57 season under Coach John Karaffa.

Here's The Tourney Picture . . .

Here's how the tournament picture stacks up.

The two teams with the top records will be seeded and that appears to be Toronto and East Liverpool. Toronto shows a 10-3 record now with games remaining with Steubenville Central, Beaver Local, Jefferson Union, Wellsville and Southern Local.

The Potters are 10-5 with Martins Ferry, Niles and Weirton to play. East Liverpool appears headed for a season record of no worse than 12-6.

Big Red has a 9-6 record but has games remaining with Massillon, Martins Ferry and Steubenville Central. It is possible that Big Red and East Liverpool could wind up with identical records and in that case the two would have to draw to see which school is seeded.

At any rate, we look for an East Liverpool - Big Red showdown in the Sectional finals.

The drawings for the Sectional are tentatively set for Feb. 23 at Steubenville.

The winner of the Sectional will advance to the District tournament, also set for the Steubenville Arena. The other three teams in the Steubenville District will come from Martins Ferry, New Philadelphia and Muskingum.

Allen's Knee Injury Big? . . .

BERNIE ALLEN, a $50,000 bonus baby four years ago, left East Liverpool Thursday for Florida where he hopes to get an early start on the 1965 season.

The Minnesota Twins second baseman has a big battle on his hands as he begins his fourth season in the Major Leagues.

A knee injury suffered in a game at Washington last season, is a big question mark to Bernie. He can only bend the knee halfway, as he demonstrated for us.

An operation was performed on the knee in December and Bernie has not been able to run too much, but is hoping the leg will mend in time for him to put in a bid for his second base job, a spot he must win.

"Second base will be crowded, there are six or seven after the job," Bernie said.

Last season, the East Liverpool lad seemed to be coming out of a batting slump, when in mid-season Don Zimmer of the Senators went into second base and crashed into Allen.

Bernie sat out for six weeks and returned to the lineup but was injured shortly after his return in a game with the Red Sox as his leg gave way while fielding a ground ball.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

IN ANSWER to several questions concerning the first semester scholarship average of the West Virginia freshman basketball team, we can report that all members did quite well and Ron Williams, the star of the outfit drew a 2.4 average in the classroom.

Williams scored 33 points against the Maryland freshmen Wednesday night.

THE WESTMINSTER show, granddaddy of the nation's dog shows will get underway this weekend with a Midland man stepping into the Madison Square Garden spotlight.

Carmen Cananzi will show three of his Silkie Terriers including Elwyn Prince Tuffy, Champion Ly-lac Jan and Mill Creek's Princess of Joy. Cananzi will also show a Scottie from Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bigelow's Hil-Ray Kennel.

Carmen will be the only owner from the district to participate in the Westminster Show which opens Sunday and through next week.

TWO FORMER East Liverpool athletes, one a football player and the other a basketball standout, are making their mark at Baldwin-Wallace.

Bud Manley, a student tackle for the 1963 Potters, was awarded his numerals at the school's football banquet recently. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Manley of 667 Lincoln Ave.

Dean Cline, 6-1 sophomore, who paced the Potter cage team in scoring two seasons ago, is the leading rebounder on the B-W jayvee squad and is scheduled to see more varsity action.

Beard's 63 Sets Record In Phoenix Golf Tourney

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Bert Yancey carried a one-stroke lead into the second round of the $67,500 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament today, but much of the attention was focused on one of the two men tied for second.

Yancey, a Philadelphian, shot a five-under-par 67 Thursday to take the first-round lead. The 26-year-old former West Point cadet recorded five birdies on the 6,584-yard Arizona Country Club course.

Tied for second at 68 were Al Geiberger and Frank Beard. It was Beard who was drawing the raves.

Beard, 25, jumped into the limelight in Wednesday's pro-am competition when he fired a sizzling nine-under-par 63 for a course record.

Beard had nine birdies in his record round, and he added four more Thursday. For the second straight day he went without a bogey.

Jerry Steelsmith and Walter Burkemo were just off the pace with 69s.

A foursome at 70 included defending champion Jack Nicklaus, Julius Boros, Peter Mazur and Stan Leonard.

Stage Set, East Meets West In Tourney Showdown Duel

City Rivals To Meet For Cage Title

Never before has the Junior High Tourney had such a perfect setting.

Memorial Auditorium is expected to be jammed Saturday afternoon when East Junior High and Westgate battle for the tournament championship.

The title game will serve as a "rubber match" between the two powerful floor teams and a battle royal is expected when these two rivals meet.

THE LAST time East met West, they battled to a double overtime with East finally winning 44-43 in the last two seconds of the second extra period.

Westgate had defeated East earlier in the season.

Both squads will carry 16-1 records into the crucial contest with the only defeats to each other.

SATURDAY'S championship game will get underway at 2 p. m. while a consolation game at 1 will pit Steubenville Big Red against Beaver Local.

Westgate gained the finals by romping to a convincing 64-49 victory over a strong Steubenville Big Red team and East made it to the championship battle with a 43-35 victory over Beaver Local Thursday at Memorial Auditorium.

Westgate posted the widest margin over Big Red in three meetings. Two previous games saw Westgate win by a two and three point difference.

THE WILDCATS wasted little time Thursday and raced to a 23-6 first quarter lead to pretty well decided the issue at this point. By halftime Westgate showed a 38-24 advantage and moved the count to 20 points, 56-36 after three periods.

Bob McKinnon and Mike McVay hammered the nets for 17 points while Earl Diddle tossed in 14 markers to pace Coach Ray (Pick) Rolley's combine. Smith's 16 points were tops for the Big Red five.

BEAVER LOCAL put a stubborn battle before bowing out. Trailing 15-7 at the first quarter spot, the Beaver cut the lead to five, 22-17 at halftime and trailed 32-27 after three periods.

East could not gain more than a five point advantage over the game Beavers in the second half.

Bruce Christian fired in 13 points to lead the Panthers while Dennis Klembara hooped 14 points for the Beavers.

Canton McKinley Grid Coach Takes BG Post

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Football coach Don Nehlen of Canton McKinley High School, who directed his team last season to a 9-1 record and second place in the final Ohio Associated Press poll, is leaving this year with the promotion of coach Doyt Perry to BG athletic director.

Under Nehlen last year, Canton McKinley lost only one game—the last one of the season—to Massillon, which finished first in the AP poll.

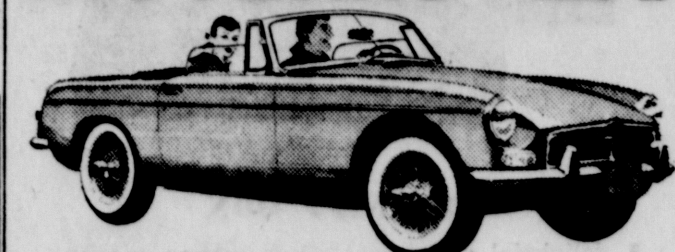

Nehlen is a graduate of Bowling Green, where he played on the 1955-56-57 football squads. He was named All Mid-American Conference quarterback in 1956 and 1957.

Prior to coming to McKinley, Nehlen was football coach at Canton South from 1959 - 62, where he had an overall record of 22-14-2. His 1962 team had a 9-1 record and finished third in the Ohio AP poll. In 1963, he was backfield coach at the University of Cincinnati.

Nehlen replaces Bill Mallory, who is joining the football coaching staff at Yale University, a graduate of Miami University.

The University announced that Nehlen has accepted a position under Bowling Green's new football coach, Bob Gib-

11 Games Slated For Local Teams

A victory over Martins Ferry tonight on the Riders' court would stamp East Liverpool as one of the powers of Eastern Ohio basketball.

The Potters already have beaten Steubenville Big Red and Toronto which post two of the best marks along the river front.

Tonight's game, which rates a tossup, will get underway about 8:30 as Coach Frank Midland and Western Beaver are idle tonight with Neville visiting South Side.

Stanton Local has its work cut out tonight visiting Springfield Local while Springfield of Mahoning County visits Crestview.

Tri-County games show Louisville, the league leader, invading East Palestine, Poland visits Lisbon, Columbiana is at Minerva and Leetonia goes to Sebring.

United will be at home with Carrollton furnishing the opposition.

WOHI Will Broadcast Potter-Niles Contest

Station WOHI will carry the basketball game between the East Liverpool Potters and Niles Red Dragons, Saturday from Niles.

Chan sends his Blue and White cagers after their 11th victory. After tonight's battle at Martins Ferry, the Potters have games remaining at Niles Saturday and Weirton next Friday.

CHAN won't be making any changes in the starting lineup which has produced three victories. The Potters haven't lost since taking a beating at Canton McKinley.

Martins Ferry puts a 10-2 mark on the line and have a six-game winning streak to protect. The big gun for the Riders is Dave Redinger, a 6-2 senior who has poured in 230 points to lead in the scoring department.

MARTINS Ferry also boasts some height in 6-6 1/2 Ed Lasse and two good outside shots in Dave Samuel 6-2 and Dave Joseph 5-9.

Niles, assured of a losing season, will be an underdog against the Potters Saturday. The Dragons only have won three games in 14 starts.

Eleven other games are on tap tonight with Wellsville, out to rebound from its loss to the Potters, visiting Jefferson Union. The Tigers return home Saturday for its final appearance of the season at Beacom Memorial Gym hosting Springfield Local of Jefferson County.

TORONTO puts its 10-3 mark on the line at Beaver Local in a Buckeye Border Conference game. Oak Glen entertains Wellsburg tonight and hosts a strong Morgantown High team Saturday.

Providence Rolls To No. 17

Friars Take Step Closer To Undefeated Campaign

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

More and more it appears that the Providence Friars will finish their regular season unbeaten in college basketball.

The Friars, the nation's only major unbeaten team, made it 17 straight with an 88-69 home-court romp over the St. Francis Frankies of Loretto, Pa., Thursday night.

Six more hurdles face the fourth-ranked Friars before the end of their regular season March 5. They play Duquesne Saturday, then go against Rhode Island, Villanova, Holy Cross, Massachusetts and Brown.

Dexter Westbrook and Jim Benedict each scored 16 points for the Friars who held a 45-24 half-time lead and used their entire 15-man squad.

Sixth-ranked Duke similarly enjoyed a home-court breeze. The Blue Devils crushed Virginia 136-72. Jack Marin led the attack with 25 points as the ACC leaders made it seven in a row and their season mark 15-2.

In contrast, Davidson's fifth-ranked Wildcats, the only other team in The Associated Press Top Ten to play, got their worst scare of the season before defeating Furman 55-50 for their 19th straight and a 20-1 season record.

Furman, winner of only six games in 23 starts, led by 34-27 in the game at Greenville, S.C., and seemed to have a major upset in hand when big Fred Hetzel, Davidson's star, went out on persons with 16 minutes to play.

Davidson scrambled back on 15 points by Don Davidson and 12 by Dick Snyder to put it out. A jump shot by Snyder put Davidson ahead for good at 40-38. Dave Selvy tossed in 21 points for Furman.

The heroics of the night came in the Western Athletic Conference where New Mexico edged Utah 65-64 in overtime and Brigham Young nipped Wyoming 96-94 to go into a triple tie for first place with Arizona.

A 25-foot jump shot by Bill Morgan with six seconds left in the extra period won for New Mexico at Albuquerque. It was the fifth straight for the Lobos, who now boast a 17-2 mark overall. Morgan scored 26 points.

Half Mile Mark Set At Gardens

NEW YORK (AP) — Tommy Farrell was going for a record, but it was the wrong one and he didn't really want it anyhow and besides he was running scared.

"I didn't look back. I couldn't. I was afraid to," the St. John's, N.Y., senior said Thursday night after he'd run the fastest half-mile ever over an indoor track and, in the process, beat old nemesis Bill Crothers in the 880-yard run in the 97th New York Athletic Club Games.

"I knew he was back there," said Farrell, who isn't noted for his kick. "At no time did I feel confident. I kept waiting for him to come up to me. The pressure, boy, the pressure was too much."

And Crothers, the 24-year-old Toronto pharmacist who had been the king of the indoor middle distance men for the last two seasons, made his try to put on the kick that usually won for him. But it wasn't enough and Farrell whipped in some three yards in front of the man

Rodriguez 7-5 Favorite Over Rubin Carter

NEW YORK (AP) — Luis Rodriguez steps into the middleweight class tonight as a 7-5 choice over contender Rubin (Hurricane) Carter in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

"I will beat Carter and then I will be up there with the leading contenders for a title fight with Joey Giardello," said the confident Cuban, a former welterweight champion. "If Dick Tiger and Joey Archer get their deserved chances at the title, I want to get a chance after them."

It all depends, of course, on how the 27-year-old Miami resident makes out against Carter. Luis has been made the choice over the 27-year-old puncher from Paterson, N.J., on his boxing cleverness, speed and iron jaw. On style Rodriguez has the edge.

Luis has an 8-0 record against middleweights. He will spot Carter about six pounds, 156 to 150.

2 Ohio Pitchers To Attend Tribe Spring Training

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pitchers Steve Bailey of Lorain and Dick Orsagh of Cleveland are among the 12 farmhands who will attend spring training at Tucson, Ariz., with the parent Cleveland Indians, beginning Feb. 26.

Bailey, 23, had a 2-3 record for Portland of the Pacific Coast League last season. He has been assigned to the Portland roster again this year. Orsagh, 22, was with Burlington of the Class A Carolina League last year. He had a 9-5 record and a 3.24 earned run average. He has been assigned to Reading of the Eastern League for the coming season.

Outside of the Chicago Cubs, who have no lights in their park, the San Francisco Giants will play 21 home night games this year, the least number of any team in the National League.

Senate Calls For Probe In CBS Purchase

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee is summoning baseball and television officials next week for an investigation of CBS's purchase of the New York Yankees.

Chairman Philip Hart, D-Mich., said the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee will hold hearings Feb. 18-19 and Feb. 23-24.

There were strong indications this might be the start of a series of hearings which also would cover professional football and other sports.

Actually, this is an extension of hearings last year on a bill to exempt practices of professional baseball, football, hockey and basketball from antitrust laws. Baseball already is exempt as a result of a Supreme Court decision. The legislation would put all four sports on an equal footing.

Hart explained: "Concern has been expressed in several quarters that the CBS purchase of the Yankees may pose questions not considered last year. Therefore, we plan to explore ramifications of this purchase in order to see what effect this transaction may have on the purpose of the bill."

Wall, the veteran from Pocono Manor, Pa., shot what he described as his finest round in years Thursday, posting a nine-under-par 63 to take the first-round lead in the Panama Open.

Six players were tied for third place, a stroke back of Galletta, and six more were deadlocked for fourth with 70s.

Twyman In 15,000 Club

Jack Twyman, a 10-year veteran, is the sixth player in National Basketball Association to surpass the 15,000 point mark.

Twyman made the list Thursday night in Cincinnati's 130-109 victory over Detroit.

In other games, St. Louis beat Baltimore 124-94 and San Francisco turned back Philadelphia 106-100.

The only other players to score more than 15,000 points are Bob Pettit, Dolph Schayes, Wilt Chamberlain, Bob Cousy and Paul Arizin.

Twyman's 15,000th came on a backhand layup with 4:45 left in the third period. Time was called, and Detroit player-coach Dave DeBusschere presented the ball to the Royals star. All told, he scored 17 points, finishing the game with 15,003.

Gun Bow Faces Strong Field In 1965 Debut

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gun Bow, who just missed out as 1964 Horse of the Year after winning eight stakes and $580,100, opens his bid for 1965 honors Saturday in the $50,000-added Santa Anita Handicap at Santa Anita.

The 5-year-old son of Your Host was a doubtful starter early in the week after coming up with a filled ankle near a tendon in left ankle Monday. But he was pronounced in perfect shape Thursday by trainer Eddie Neley after working one-half mile in 46 3-5 seconds.

Without the benefit of a prep race, Gun Bow faces an imposing task in trying to get his campaign off with a victory. He has not raced since losing to Kelso in the Washington D.C. International last Nov. 11 — a setback that undoubtedly lost him Horse of the Year honors.

He has been assigned top weight of 129 pounds for the 1 1/2-mile race and asked to give two to the flashy Candy Spots, seven to the ever-dangerous Hill Rise and 11 to Duel, who surprised with a victory in the recent Strub Stakes while packing a mere 112 pounds.

Gun Bow, winner of the San Antonio last year, is pointing for the $100,000-added Santa Anita Handicap on March 6 as are his rivals. The Gedeney Farm ace, favorite to replace the retired Kelso as America's champion thoroughbred, will be ridden by Manuel Ycaza. Bill Shoemaker will be astride Candy Spots and Don Pierce will handle Hill Rise.

Snell Will Make Final Indoor Track Appearance

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The talent of Peter Snell, the world's top middle-distance runner, will be seen indoors for the last time Saturday night.

The 26-year-old New Zealand sensation will be running the 1,000-yard event in the Los Angeles Times Indoor Games at the Sports Arena. It's one of five distances in which he holds the world record.

And after it's over, says Snell, he's through on the boards. Snell told a news conference Thursday that he will retire from track completely after "one more fling" of outdoor competition next summer.

"I'm writing a book about track," he said, "and I guess that automatically will end my amateur career. But I want to quit this year anyhow. I can't give enough time to track and advance my work, too."

"Also, I want to develop more of a family life." In private life, Snell is a public relations executive for a tobacco company in Auckland. He got the job despite the fact he's a non-smoker.

Snell, a double gold medal winner at the Tokyo Olympics last year, holds these world standards: 1:44.3 for 800 me-

Rules Cited In Trapping Of Beavers

LISBON — Beaver trappers may not trap on another person's land without written consent, according to James Kelley, Columbiana County game protector, who issued this warning today in advance of the beaver trapping season beginning Monday and running through Feb. 28.

Kelley said trappers will be required to produce the written consent when they bring beavers to be tagged as is required by law.

The limit is two beavers per season and no person shall set or maintain more than five beaver traps at any one time.

He also called attention to the following regulations: Each pelt shall have a seal attached prior to mid night March 1, such seal shall be attached by a game protector in the county in which the beaver was taken.

Non-residents may trap beaver only if their state of residence permits Ohio citizens to trap beaver in their state.

Beavers may be taken by trapping only.

Beaver trapping is prohibited on state public hunting areas, and this includes the Highland-town Game Preserve, Guilford and Zepernick Lakes and the Beaver Creek State Park.

Beavers shall not be taken with a trap of a size less than No. 3 double spring.

Kelley said he has set up a tagging station again at the Columbiana County Jail. The schedule includes:

Thursday — 7-10 p.m.; Feb. 22-2 to 6 p.m.; Feb. 24-6 to 9 p.m.; Feb. 26 — 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., and March 1 — 9 a.m. to noon and 6 to 10 p.m.

Planning Unit Meets

College And Park Proposals Aired

Columbiana County's proposed college plans and development of the county's parks and recreation resources were discussed at a meeting of the Regional Planning Commission Thursday.

The various college proposals at East Liverpool, Salem and a county community college were aired.

FLOYD LOWER, president, was asked to arrange a meeting of the proponents of each college project to discuss a coordinated effort at obtaining a higher education facility.

Richard McCullough, chairman of the committee on parks and recreation, presented the committee report on surveys of the county resources and recommendations for development.

The report is to be presented to state authorities in a bid for state assistance in obtaining more park, forest and lake areas.

THE commission approved a resolution of commendation to McCullough and his committee. Plans were discussed for a general dinner meeting in the spring at which a prominent speaker will address the group and the printed general report of the commission, as compiled over the past year, will be presented.

The commission approved the reappointment by Lower of the executive committee for 1965, including Howard Firestone of Salem, Erwood Calvin of Columbiana, County Commissioner Frank Wilson, County Engineer John Ursu, Olan Sanor of East Rochester, Glenn Wright of East Liverpool and Richard Mattern of Glenmoor.

THE COMMISSION approved a recommendation by County Commissioner Max Gard that a subcommittee under the housing committee be assigned to planning housing for the elderly. He referred to efforts at such housing at East Liverpool and Salem.

Also approved was a recommendation to have mayors of communities in the county recommend possible sites for a proposed county airport for a special airport committee to consider.

Studies are being made to determine a site for the airport, which would be financed in part by funds from a proposed bond issue before Ohio voters in May.

Viet Nam

at Da Nang Air Base, 80 miles south of the border. Some of its unspent munitions exploded when the landing gear collapsed. The pilot escaped.

Radio Hanoi claimed its armed forces shot down seven U.S. planes and captured an American, Robert H. Shumaker. The Defense Department said he is a lieutenant commander from New Wilmington, Pa.

The raid was in retaliation for the bombing Wednesday night of a four-story concrete hotel for U.S. enlisted men in Qui Nhon which left 21 Americans dead or missing.

The last American known to have lived through the Viet Cong terrorist bombing was rescued early today. He was the fifth man pulled from the 30-foot pile of rubble — all that remains of the two-month old structure.

Rescuers had to chip away a 36-inch concrete block before they pulled Spec. 4 Arthur G. Abendschein of Deptford, N.J., from the space where he had been trapped 35½ hours. Abendschein had to strip and smear himself with soap to squeeze Bone-tired Americans and Vietnamese Montagnard tribesmen continued round-the-clock digging at the rubble. They said there would be no stop until all of the missing were accounted for.

Two Americans were known dead as a result of the blast.

Military authorities announced the recovery of bodies of three of four U.S. Army advisers reported missing when the Viet Cong overran the town of Duc Phong, north of Saigon, on Wednesday.

They were identified as Capt. Carlton J. Holland Jr., 36, whose wife lives at Junction City, Kan.; Staff Sgt. Emmett J. Bryant, 35, whose wife Madgie lives at Greensburg, La.; and Pfc. John W. Malapelli, 19, whose father Anthony C. Malapelli lives at Burlington, Ky.

Spec. 4 James H. McLean, 20, whose mother Gertrude McLean lives at (637 South Bixel) Los Angeles, was still missing.

Since the step-up of American activity in Viet Nam in December, 1961, a total of 273 American lives have been lost in combat.

Speaking on the problem of security for American personnel and installations in South Viet Nam, Lt. Gen. John Throckmorton said today that certain calculated risks must be taken.

Throckmorton, deputy American commander here, said: "It would be very difficult for the Vietnamese armed forces to guarantee security under the conditions which exist here today."

If certain calculated risks are not taken, Throckmorton said, "We've got troops tied down to static security tasks and unable to move out against the Viet Cong. They must operate away from the installations."

Throckmorton has devoted personal attention to the security problem since the Viet Cong attack on Bien Hao Air Base last Nov. 1. Since then heavy attacks have been made on an American officers' billet in Saigon on Christmas Eve, and at Pleiku and Qui Nhon. The attack at Pleiku touched off the first reprisal air strike this week against North Viet Nam.

The evacuation of American dependents from South Viet Nam continued today, with 400 scheduled for departure. Four flights carrying 324 persons left Thursday, two for Bangkok and two for the United States.

Raid against the Communist North prompted the Vietnamese to think of defense against aerial attack on Saigon.

Officers directed traffic manually at the scene and notified the Sayre Electric Co., which has a contract with the city for maintenance of electrical systems.

March Session Set

By Wage Committee

A wage policy committee representing the sanitary, art, refractories, tile and plastic branches of the ceramic industry will convene March 15 at the Netherlands - Hilton Hotel in Cincinnati, the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today.

The board received reopening requests from "the largest number of local unions in many years," it said.

The union said its negotiating committee will meet at headquarters Feb. 19 to discuss proposals to be raised at the conference.

In announcing plans for the reopening, the IBOP said its officers "made no commitments regarding wages or other negotiating material." It said the "opening of the contract is because of minimum male and female hourly and day workers' scales."

It added that the officers "will guide on union conference committee decision on a package wage, fringes and so forth."

The group, calling itself the D.C. Student Protest Against Communist Imperialism, marched "to show that American students can stage an orderly and responsible protest against the foreign policy of opposing nations."

Earlier this week, students in Moscow demonstrated outside the U.S. Embassy, smashing windows and staining the building with ink.

one or two unintelligible mutterings.

Finally, a bag of candy was procured in hopes it would loosen his memory. Jeffrey, big-eyed and silent, munched gratefully on the candy after some urging. But he wouldn't "sing."

Thinking the woman's touch was needed, officers recruited three volunteers — Miss Selma Ladzinski, city health nurse; Mrs. Elizabeth Oliver of the auditor's office and Mrs. Catherine Martin, a "Meter Maid."

Despite all the motherly attention, Jeffrey maintained silence. He didn't cry or complain. He just sat.

An appeal and a description were broadcast via commercial radio. Still no response.

Police theorized for a time the boy may have alighted from an out-of-town shopper's car parked in a lot adjacent to one of the two super-markets in the area. But the angle was checked out to no avail.

Finally officers placed Jeffrey in a cruiser and installed a portable public address system. The car drove through the general area where the boy was found, asking if anyone had lost a little boy and giving his description.

The search continued until an older youngster on Minerva St. recognized the missing boy and told officers where he lived.

Police took the boy to the Ravine St. address and, sure enough,

By HAL HUMPHREY

TV Bug Bites Capital News Corps

HOLLYWOOD — Has the TV bug bitten our Washington press corps? Could that possibly be one of the reasons for capital reporters and columnists criticizing President Lyndon Johnson for not holding more press conferences — and in larger rooms?

Newspapermen, strange as it may seem, are subject to attacks of ego just like politicians, Shakespearean actors and department store floorwalkers. They enjoy fan mail as much as the next guy, although most of them would never admit it and there is nothing like an appearance on TV to stimulate fan mail.

When the late President John Kennedy decided to hold "live" TV press conferences in what then was the State Department's big new auditorium, a few grizzled Fourth Estaters hooted and asked sarcastically if they would be expected to put on make-up.

IN NO TIME at all, however, most of the White House correspondents seemed to be enjoying themselves immensely at these Kennedy press conferences, some of which were more show than conference.

May Craig (of "Meet the Press" fame) could be counted upon to pop up and query Mr. Kennedy on what he was doing about the women of America and elicit from the witty President a quip which would rock the auditorium with laughter.

There was a newswoman from Texas who dedicated herself to netting Mr. Kennedy, instead of trying to find out what was going on in the administration.

Frequently the reporters questioning him would literally make speeches before posing their question. After all, they were on three coast-to-coast TV networks, and the editor back home would be sure to hear about it if he wasn't actually watching.

SOME WHITE HOUSE newsmen are arguing now that President Johnson's infrequent and impromptu news conferences in a crowded office or at his Texas ranch do not give them a chance to prepare proper questions and that hence the public is being denied access to its government's goings-on.

The mark of a newspaperman used to be his ability to get a story under the most adverse conditions and wherever it broke. Has sitting in those over-stuffed lounge seats in the State Department auditorium under the glare of TV lights and hum of directional microphones turned some of our Washington news correspondents into prima donnas?

One might also ponder on how press conferences were really productive of genuine news.

The Kennedy personality and his sense of the dramatic may have frequently snowed the press corps into believing they had more than they really did. But they were part of a TV show that outpulled "Bonanza."

THERE WERE times, too, when Mr. Kennedy would go for weeks without holding a press conference on TV but there was no big criticism of the President then.

Former President Dwight Eisenhower never was considered the grand host as far as the press was concerned. He jammed them into the White House for conferences and as ABC's Bill Lawrence remarked to me recently, "like looked upon the newsmen as troops."

Between Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Johnson, of course, the newsmen were romanced by Mr. Kennedy and the impact of "live" TV, and evidently the effect of this combination sticks in the memories of many of the "troops" in the Washington press corps.

There is little doubt that President Johnson is trying to use the newsmen assigned to him for his own purposes, just as Jack Kennedy did and every President before him.

What the newsmen have to do is figure new ways to overcome the obstacles put in their way—and, most of all, forget those halcyon days when they could get on network TV and make speeches at the President of the United States.

Rhodes Eyes Council On Tourist Trade

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes, calling Ohio's tourist industry "a billion-dollar business without a head," has moved to correct the problem.

He named a temporary committee Thursday to look into creation of a travel and tourist council to guide and expand the state's tourist industry.

The governor said the state has lost millions of dollars over the years by not advertising its attractions properly.

He said the formation of a tourist council would enable the state to co-ordinate efforts in this field which until now have been passed from one state agency to another.

Rhodes also announced a stepped-up information program to include a new monthly state magazine, "The Wonderful World of Ohio," which, he said, probably will start publishing in July.

The new magazine will replace the present "Ohio Conservation" magazine put out by the Department of Natural Resources and will be distributed in motels, hotels, service stations and the like.

Rhodes said the new publication will sell "for a dollar or two a copy because when people get something free they don't think they are getting anything."

Sample copies of the magazine will be given away to all purchasers of 1965 auto license plates along with the state's new road map which Rhodes says is "the best in the nation."

Middletown Girl, 4, Chosen Ohio Heart Sunday Princess

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Only three months ago four-year-old Diana Marchetti of Middletown underwent a rare heart artery transplant, today she is Ohio's Heart Sunday Princess.

Diana, chosen as the official mascot for the statewide door-to-door Heart Sunday campaign, Feb. 21, is believed to be the first person in Ohio to have such a transplant.

The five and one half hour operation involved transplanting an abnormally-placed pulmonary artery. The artery branched off the aorta instead of the main pulmonary trunk.

The brown-eyed, red-haired girl was given only a 50-50 chance of survival. Now, she's bursting with energy.

Why do so many families in East Liverpool save at Central Federal in Wellsville?

The biggest and best reason is the fantastic Central Federal 4¼% dividend rate . . . a profit on your savings that's pretty hard to beat! Naturally folks want to reach their savings goals as quickly as possible . . . so of course they want to earn the highest dividend rate possible. Central Federal is known for always paying the very highest dividend rate consistent with safety.

SAFETY . . . and safety is another important reason East Liverpool families say it is Central Federal for their money. They know that at Central Federal their savings are insured up to $10,000 by an agency of the federal government.

AND THE STAFF . . . many East Liverpool families insist on making their deposits at Central Federal in person (you see, they could save-by-mail if they desired). They stop in because the people at Central Federal are the kind of folks you like to do business with . . . friendly, courteous, professional . . . and, they invite you to stop in soon!
